

Lindbergh Weds Unexpectedly to Avoid Publicity

Ceremony Performed Quietly at Ambassador Morrow's Home at Englewood, N. J., Monday Afternoon—Sudden Decision Made Sunday Night at Request of Bride.

Englewood, N. J., May 25 (AP).—Taking a waiting world completely by surprise, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his bride, the former Anne Morrow, were away on a secret honeymoon trip today.

The marriage took place without previous announcement at 4 p. m. yesterday in the drawing room of the home of the bride's father, Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow. Half an hour later the couple drove away from the estate unaccompanied, apparently bound for New York.

The Rev. Dr. William Adams Brown, professor of systematic theology at Union Theological Seminary, performed the ceremony in which a simplified form of the marriage service, with the word "obey" omitted, was used. He is a Presbyterian, as are members of the Morrow family. Mr. Morrow is a member of the seminary board and he and Dr. Brown are old friends.

The ambassador and Mrs. Morrow, the bride's two sisters, Elizabeth and Constance, General and Mrs. Jay Johnson Morrow, brother and sister-in-law of the ambassador, Miss Alice Morrow, his sister, and Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, mother of the groom, made up the wedding party. So quickly and quietly was the wedding held that it was 6:30 p. m. before the public knew that the marriage, on which its attention had been centered since announcement of the engagement, February 12 last, had taken place.

Unexpectedness Explained. The only explanation for the unexpectedness of the event was furnished by Mrs. Edwin L. McElvaine, of Meadville, Pa., sister of Ambassador Morrow.

A telegram from her brother said: "Anne and Charles married very quietly this afternoon. Betty and I regret your absence, but there seemed no other way after the sudden decision last night."

Mrs. McElvaine said she was informed by telephone that the wedding was advanced at the request of Miss Morrow because she was annoyed by the publicity and the insistence of reporters and curiosity seekers for information.

Wedding Was Informal. The wedding was utterly informal. The bride wore a simple white chiffon dress, made by Miss Mary Smith, an Englewood dressmaker, who has sewed for the Morrow family for years. The bride had a short veil and in her ungloved hands she carried a bouquet of blue larkspur which had been picked in the gardens of the Morrow estate by her dance a few moments before the ceremony.

Colonel Lindbergh wore a blue business suit of the sort that has been his favorite garb in flights about the country. Each witness of the ceremony was given a piece of the wedding cake.

Dr. Brown's Description. Dr. Brown describing the wedding said: "There were no special decorations. The very simplest wedding ceremony was used at the request of the family. It was a very unusual and very brief ritual, designed to use a minimum of words and time."

"There was no best man and there were no bridal attendants. Ambassador Morrow gave his daughter away."

"The bride was very charming and very lovely. She wore a white veil and a white dress. Colonel Lindbergh wore a plain business suit."

"Miss Morrow was quite composed during the entire ceremony. Colonel Lindbergh was entirely at ease. He hasn't any nerves."

"He was so far from being a nervous bridegroom that there was no trembling of the ring and I didn't even see it."

Dr. Brown explained he omits the word "obey" from the marriage service unless requested to use it. He said the other omissions were at the suggestion of Colonel Lindbergh.

Possibility of Flying Honeymoon. Possibility that the couple were planning a flying honeymoon was seen in orders received at Roosevelt Field from Colonel Lindbergh, which his Blue Falcon plane he conditioned and made ready for flight.

At the field the only information obtainable was that a faulty oil line had been repaired and the plane found in perfect condition after a test flight.

Dispatches from North Haven, N. J., where the Morrrows have a summer home, quoted Mrs. Hubert O. Grant, wife of the caretaker, as saying that there had been no instructions to prepare for the arrival of Colonel Lindbergh and his bride and that the house was being renovated and painted.

Will Operate Two Ferries Thursday

Rhinebeck & Kingston Ferry Company to Place Steamer on Route to Assist Transport With Traffic Memorial Day—To Try New Plan.

Starting Thursday the Rhinebeck & Kingston Ferry Company will commence the operation of two ferry boats on holidays and Sundays, and that service will be continued throughout the summer if business warrants it.

Thursday morning the ferryboat Steiner will be placed in operation together with the ferry Transport, and both ferries will run all day to care for the traffic between this port and Rhinecliff.

It is planned to afford a two-ferry service on Sundays during the summer season if business warrants it. By placing two boats on the route Memorial Day the expected heavy holiday auto traffic will be handled with greater ease and less delay.

Glenn Swanson's Income Taxes. Los Angeles, May 28 (AP).—Glenn La Bailley de la Falaise, whose motion picture name is Glenn Swanson, was alleged to owe the government $25,240.35 in unpaid income taxes in three tax liens in federal court yesterday. The liens charged the actress owed $6,942.30 additional taxes for 1924, $6,583 for 1925 and $11,715.05 for 1926.

Ambassador Morrow's secretary. It was reported that the secretary of Ambassador Morrow, who was with him when he was in Mexico City, had been seen in each other's company with increasing frequency until last night when Ambassador Morrow announced the engagement in Mexico City. At that time Colonel Lindbergh was in Cuba on a good will tour.

Romance Began in Mexico City. Colonel Lindbergh is 27 years old and his bride is 22. Their romance began when Lindbergh was received at the American embassy in Mexico City on his good will tour December 14, 1927. At that time Miss Morrow was a senior at Smith College, where she had made something of a name for herself as a poet with contributions to college publications.

The spotlight which was focused upon the young flier soon disclosed a girl in the picture, but for a time it was believed that it was Miss Elizabeth Morrow to whom he was paying court.

Colonel Lindbergh and Miss Anne, however, were seen in each other's company with increasing frequency until last night when Ambassador Morrow announced the engagement in Mexico City. At that time Colonel Lindbergh was in Cuba on a good will tour.

Official announcement of the wedding was made by A. H. Springer, secretary of the American embassy in Mexico City.

After the wedding it was learned that the marriage license was obtained by Colonel Lindbergh five days ago, May 22, the second anniversary of his historic landing at Le Bourg, France. John A. Bourget, registrar of the Englewood board of health, who issued the license, was pledged to secrecy.

Official announcement of the wedding was made by A. H. Springer, secretary of the American embassy in Mexico City.

Traveling Men to Hold Convention Here Next Week

State Convention of United Commercial Travelers in Session Three Days at Governor Clinton Hotel—Wives of Delegates to be Entertained by Ladies' Auxiliary.

Few people in Kingston are aware that a large convention will be held in this city next week, opening on Thursday morning and closing Saturday afternoon.

The event is the 15th annual New York state convention of the United Order of Commercial Travelers of America. A large committee has been working hard since last fall to make the present convention one to be proud of and to reflect credit on the "Old Colonial" city.

Five years ago when the convention was held in Newburgh, the local delegates resolved on holding the 1924 convention in Kingston, as by that time their fellow townsmen, George H. Merkle, would have passed through the different offices and would have completed his term as grand councillor of the state.

A unique feature of this convention is that the souvenir program contains no advertising matter. The local council decided that too many times the merchants are asked to contribute towards putting up for programs that benefited no one, so they decided to finance the present convention without solicitation except among their own members. No doubt the merchants appreciate this fact and will long remember the Commercial Travelers as one organization in this city that has asked no aid from them.

Headquarters at Governor Clinton. A ladies' auxiliary has been working hard to entertain the delegates' wives from out of town and has arranged a theatre party for the afternoon of June 6 as well as a dinner and entertainment at the Stuyvesant Hotel that evening for which 200 covers will be laid.

On Friday afternoon, June 7, after a short parade, the visitors will be taken by auto around the Ashokan reservoir, after which the Stuyvesant Hotel will furnish dinner for 400 people.

Sea Serpents' Swim. Thursday night the swim of the sea serpents will take place at Golden Rule Inn. This party is for the men only.

The Rev. Lucas Boeve, D. D., will give the opening invocation on Thursday morning, followed by an address of welcome by Mayor E. J. Dempsey, after which an address on the U. C. T. will be given by the Hon. Roscoe Irwin.

Zucca's famous singing orchestra will furnish music throughout the convention and the American Legion Drum Corps will lead the parade of delegates on Friday.

The committee in charge as well as every member of Kingston council will use every endeavor to prove to all delegates and visitors that Kingston stands preeminent as a convention city throughout the Empire State.

Midget Found Asleep in Woods

Monday evening the State Troopers and sheriff's office were requested to locate Adolph Schemmel, who was missing from his home in Markle Heights, off the south boulevard of the Ashokan reservoir where he lived on what is known as the Piccolo Midget Farm. State Troopers under the direction of Sergeant Cunningham made a thorough search of the property and at about 2 o'clock this morning they found Adolph sleeping placidly in the woods near the farm.

Adolph visited Kingston during the afternoon in company with two of the Hoy Sisters and Prince Ludwig and his wife, all midget guests at the Piccolo Midget Farm. Returning home late in the evening Adolph was missing and the guests and caretaker sent out the alarm at about 10:20 o'clock.

Adolph is the surviving member of the original Piccolo Midgets, who for years appeared in theatres in America, Europe and China. The members were Adolph Theime, Alex Ebert, Otto and Adolph Schemmel. They all became citizens of the United States when they lived in Phoenixia. They were all members of Kingston Lodge of Elks and of the Knights of Pythias.

The other members of the original midget family are buried in a cemetery. Alex Ebert, who was a cousin of Schemmel's, killed himself with a shotgun after having been discharged from a hospital. Carlo, also a midget, a brother of Adolph, is in business in Berlin, dealing in cigars.

No Delivery of Mail Thursday

Thursday—Memorial Day—will be observed as an absolute holiday by the Kingston post office and there will be no delivery of mail that day in the city or on the rural routes.

There will be the usual holiday collection of mail, and the jobbies of the Central post office and the two stations will be open all day for the convenience of box holders. All the windows, however, will be closed.

Supreme Court Will Adjourn On Wednesday

Unless Some Unforeseen Matters Come Up for Attention—Two Cases Go Over The Term—Recess Taken After Making Up Day Calendar.

Supreme court will adjourn Wednesday for the term unless some unforeseen matters come up for attention. Judge McNamee announced that there had been three weeks of court and many cases had been disposed of during that time. This is the fourth week of the term and as nothing was ready for trial Monday afternoon, court recessed until 10 o'clock today when it was expected there would be a case ready for trial.

No. 29, Frank E. Gallagher against Joseph M. Herbert, an action on contract, went over the term on motion of John E. O'Brien of Albany who filed affidavits to the effect that a necessary witness was ill and at present under a physician's care at Atlantic City. It was stipulated that unless the case was ready at the opening of the October term of court it would be stricken from the calendar and dismissed on the merits.

The action involves $2,200 which plaintiff claims is due him under a contract for wages. The case came under the strike-off order, having been in issue for over two years. Amos Van Eiten appears for the defendant.

No. 44, another case coming under the strike-off order, met the same fate. This is an action brought by Elmer E. Palen against New York Central Railroad Company.

In 398, Francis A. Waters, Jr., against Northeast Utility Corporation, it was announced that there was pending an adjournment and the case was permitted to stay on the day calendar but was not moved for trial.

Court recessed after making up a day calendar.

25 Years for 'Mail Order Bride'

Rutland, Vt., May 28 (AP).—Mrs. Laura Woodard Haverly, so-called "mail order bride," entered today upon a sentence of not less than 25 years nor more than 30 years at the state prison for women here. She was found guilty of assault with intent to kill her husband, Thomas Haverly, an armed house painter, of Brattleboro, by a jury in the Windham county superior court at Newfane last week and sentenced yesterday.

Mrs. Haverly struck her husband on the head with an iron griddle while he slept in their Brattleboro home April 30. The state charged her attack was made in order that she might collect life insurance she had taken out on Haverly.

Two of her children, Raymond and Pearl Woodard, testified the mother sought their aid in killing Haverly. Pearl was being held at Newfane on a forged charge growing out of the alleged theft of an automobile and Raymond on a charge of assault on his stepfather. Their cases will be disposed of this week.

The woman married Haverly after a few months' correspondence through a matrimonial agency.

SPANISH ARMY OFFICERS SENTENCED TO DEATH

Ciudad Real, Spain, May 28 (AP).—Although strict secrecy was maintained, it was learned today that three sentences of death have been passed by a court martial against officers who participated in a revolutionary movement last January. Those sentenced to death were a colonel and two captains.

Several sentences of life imprisonment were voted. The 23 remaining artillery officers on trial were acquitted.

OPERA BEAUTY PARLOR TO OPEN BRANCH PARLORS

In order to care for its trade from the central part of the city that has come to its shop at 279 Fair street, the Opera Beauty Parlor managers will on or about June 1 open a branch establishment at 522 Broadway, adjoining the central branch of the Kingston Trust Company. Experts in the hair dressing, waving and haircutting line will be ready to care for the wants of those who wish prompt service there.

Our Growing Population. The following births have been reported to the board of health:

Mr. and Mrs. Leon D. Gorsline, 124 Wilbur avenue, a son, Leon William.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Oulton, 27 Henry street, a son, Andrew James, at Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd C. Keator, 1150 N. Main, a daughter, Lois Marie, at Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John Angelo DeGasperis, 1 Boulevard, a son, John Arthur.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Knop, 282 Second avenue, a daughter, Gladys Emma.

Dr. Schacht Leaves Paris. Berlin, May 28 (AP).—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, chief of the German delegation to the reparations conference, was today reported on reliable authority to have left Paris for a destination presumed to be the German Rhine.

Home Bureau Advisory Council In Session Here

The Ulster County Home Bureau Advisory Council met this morning at 9:30 in its annual program making meeting. Seventy women representing 15 of the 18 communities in the county were present.

Miss Dorothy De Lany, assistant state leader from Cornell, was present and added a bit of life to the meeting by leading the singing. The meeting was opened by singing "America the Beautiful," "Auld Lang Syne," "We're Here for Fun." Other songs were interspersed throughout the morning session under Miss De Lany's direction.

Miss Mary Deyo, county chairman, gave a few words of welcome and in a short report of the work in the county said, "This has been the best year we have yet had in the Ulster County Home Bureau." She reported a membership of 725. Seventy-five more than last year's membership and an intensely interesting program.

Mrs. E. J. Hunt, secretary of the Home Bureau, read the report of the 1928 Advisory Council. This was followed by a report of the Southwestern District Federation meeting held at New York city in April. The report was given by Mrs. Richard Busch of Lomontville. A report of the communities then followed, given as follows:

Accord, Mrs. Walter Bavenport, chairman; Asbury, William Frumppour, chairman; Flatbush, Mrs. Howard A. Lewis, chairman; Gardiner, Mrs. Louis Lefevre, chairman; Hurley, Mrs. M. T. E. DeWitt, secretary; Kerhonkson, Mrs. E. J. Hunt, for Mrs. George Harker, chairman; Kingston, Mrs. Frank Meagher, secretary; Lomontville, Mrs. E. J. Hunt, chairman; Modena, Mrs. Wygant Courter, chairman; Napanoch, Mrs. H. M. Eppes for Mrs. Morton Sciple, chairman; New Paltz, Mrs. George Boettiger, chairman; Shandakeh, Mrs. F. S. Osterhoudt, chairman; Shokan, Mrs. Fred Bond for Mrs. H. Wager, chairman; Stone Ridge, Mrs. George L. Ware, chairman; West Hurley, Mrs. Hobart Rowe, vice chairman.

The communities all show growth, interest, and a full program of work accomplished this year.

Miss Evelyn Nance, Home Bureau manager, reported for the State Bridge Scholarship committee that the goal for the state this year is $5,000. If Ulster county can send in ten cents per member more than $70 can be contributed to the fund from this county. She reported that $22.90 has been contributed as follows: Flatbush, $2.90; Lomontville, $3; High Falls, $5; Gardiner, $4.40; Modena, $4.40; Kerhonkson, $3; miscellaneous, 20c.

The council retired to Von Berg's restaurant for luncheon, after which the meetings with special speakers will be resumed.

Chorus Closes First Part. Then the chorus rendered "Dream Train" as the closing number of the first part, while Harry Linton, veteran of vaudeville stage, who proved a most efficient interlocutor, thanked all for their patronage.

Members of the chorus are as follows: Walter Albright, Milfred Buddenbagen, Jacob Camp, La Mont Gidney, Harry Gromeyer, Nicholas Huber, Joseph Huber, William Jordan, Walter Kirchner, Ray Luedke, William Mooney, John Myers, William Norton, Jacob C. Port, Grant Pardee, George Pardee, Frank J. Sass, Fred Sharp, Harry Short, Thomas Smith, Jacob Snyder and John Tremper.

The olio of the show proved as popular with the audience as did the first part. It opened with a selection by Maiseinelder's Orchestra, featuring John Emmet and his Vibraphone, followed by a dance specialty by Miss Lillian Woerner and Roger Keough, who were loudly applauded.

Chief Joseph L. Murphy of the fire department had to respond to several encores to his solo, which proved one of the outstanding features of the second part of the show.

Then came the "two Gobs", Tommy Stenson and Eddie Crane, who had a novelty act introduced by Harry Linton. They were followed by Joe Mitchell with a recitation and dance that went over big.

Last but not least came the "Famous Strutt Family", who furnished the audience with plenty of good comedy. Zeke Boss, Mr. Strutt, Eddie Barton, Mrs. Strutt, and John Dulin. Sonny Strutt, were required to do several turns owing to the generous applause received by their offerings.

Settings and costumes for the minstrel were furnished by Harry Linton and went a long way in making the show look like a real professional production. Another feature that helped the performance was the lighting effects furnished by Monty Bailey and Gus Bruce, who will be on the job again tonight.

Audience Applauds Company Drill. The show was closed by the "Pride of the Rapids", a drill performed by members of the home company led by Frank Strubel, foreman; Monty Bailey and Ken Garsen, assistant foremen. The drill was well applauded.

Home Bureau Rapid Hose Co. Minstrel Success

Large Audience at High School Enjoys Show Which Is Declared Equal to Any Professional Minstrel—Rehearsed Tonight.

Rapid Hose minstrel show made a big hit at Kingston High school auditorium Monday night when a comedy number saw the fire ladder perform like professionals, and it is expected to please a crowded house tonight when staged for the last time. The curtain rises at 8:15 promptly.

Continuous applause greeted the offerings of the firemen, from the Grand Original opening featuring Bernard "Dun" Coughlin as "The Man with the Ladder and the Hose" until the excellent drill of the Rapid Hose which closed the show.

Maiseinelder's orchestra accompanied the minstrel and as usual showed a big factor in making the show all that Director Eddie Barton planned it to be. The first catchy song played by the orchestra was "Down Among the Sugar Cane", sung by George Schatzel, who made a hit.

Then came a ballad, "Old Fashioned Lady", by Harry Zellmer, who proved popular as a baritone. Johnny Fisher, the song and dance man, was next on the program and pepped up the show with his offerings, "Sleep, Baby, Sleep", another ballad, by Fred Albright, next came in for his hearty round of applause. George Rels with his "I, Myself and Me" went over big as did Chester Fox, who admirably sang "Dream Mother".

Premier Ends Appear. Next came the entrance of the premier ends, Zeke Boss and Frank Oulton, who lived up to their reputations of being two of the best blackface amateur performers in the city, having played in minstrels for many years. But their funny stories, songs and jokes that they have to offer in the Rapid minstrel, far surpass all past accomplishments.

"Button Up Your Overcoat" by Eddie Burns followed the entrance of the premier ends and he got a big hand for his efforts. Thomas Noble then sang "I Get the Blues When It Rains" in a very pleasing manner. Johnny Dolan singing "I Ain't Got Enough to Pass Around" gave the audience plenty to laugh about.

Following was a sweet tenor solo by Thomas Daley, who sang "My Mother's Eyes" in a manner that prompted several encores. Ray Schatzel came next with "I Ain't No Fault of Mine" and furnished plenty of comedy.

Thomas Stenson sang "Glad Rag Doll" in a very pleasing manner, after which Frank Oulton gave the audience a treat with his "Etiquette Blues". Henry Peskie singing "I'll Forget You" in a pleasing tenor voice was followed by Zeke Boss, who made a hit with "Goodness Gracious Gracie."

Dame Fashion Smiles

By Grace Jewett Austin

Dame Fashion had an opportunity that would have been appreciated by any June bride, or indeed by brides of any season. A man who has been hailed with great acclaim as a dress designer took over a half yard of gleaming white satin, a square of beautiful lace, two clusters of orange blossoms, many yards of soft sea-green tulle and as many of white tulle, with a paper of pins as his assistant.

A tall, graceful brunette was his model, and like a magician, he planned the shining folds around her, added the veil and all the accessories, until at last she walked away, as regal a bride in appearance as those who have symphony orchestras for their wedding music, dozens in the bridal procession, with bishops to officiate. Some said that the bridal veil, with the green just hinted beneath the white, reminded them of the cataract from Niagara falls.

But Dame Fashion wanted to know more, and with the first opportunity, asked some questions. The designer said: "Yes, it is my custom to use color always with bridal veils. The special color chosen depends much on the color of the gowns of the attendants. The most recent color effect I have used is a suntan or even deeper tan, in the whole bridal costume."

An astonished Dame demanded if the bridal veil and all was in suntan. "Certainly, the bridal veil and all. The effect is astonishingly beautiful." Then Dame Fashion remembered all she had heard and read of the beauty of ancient and yelowered heilom veils and laces, and realized that these effects were much the same.

At the same fashion exhibition, it seemed quite plain that, just like the old saying, "Every dog has his day," so it is equally true that every costume has its special purpose or handbag. The pretty fabric bag, all tapstry and gay with flowers and bright designs, is said to have begun its life history at southern resorts, but it certainly took a flying trip northward, and with all its pride of mixed coloring and lightness of weight, is prominently in the mode now all over the nation.

First Dame Fashion would make up her mind that there were more envelope purses and those with back-staps in evidence than any other kind, but by another moment along would come plenty of bags with comically long handles. Grained calf was there, often with modernistic patches of bright-kid; pin-seal and genuine ostrich are good if you can afford them; water snake purses become especially effective if the pumps worn have the same irregular black spots on gray.

And the colors? Not a bit of trouble to find them in blue, red, black, green, gray, brown, suntan and beige. And what is beige? Ah, Plute, you don't ask a much harder question when you said, "What is truth?" A shoe authority was asked one day lately for beige pumps, and laid out twelve different shades!

But quite the aristocratic thing to say this summer about your new bag is to call attention to the fact that it has an inner section for your passport!

Mother-in-Law Sees How New Generation Works

"I guess Harold must be going to get the closed car. Minnie has been talking for two days now about how wives should not make unreasonable demands on their husbands. They probably compromised the way they did the time they built the sun parlor. Harold wanted a fireplace in it and Minnie didn't. So they compromised on new rugs downstairs and new living-room furniture, and Harold soon cut out the fireplace on his own account."

"I'm learning a little late in life. I remember the time I wanted gas lights put in, back in Peoria. Lamech didn't want them, so I decided to have it out with him. I did; and we kept on using oil lamps."

"Minnie often says, 'Mother, I believe a man ought to have his own way as much as possible. It preserves his self-respect.' And when the house is delivered, Minnie will have Harold believing that he forced it on her."—Kansas City Times.

LITERARY DECENCY

Another old classic, Voltaire's "Candide," is ruled against by American censors. It is forbidden admittance to this country on the ground of obscenity. The law has been in existence a long time, and so has the book. It was published in 1759. Very likely some of the Fathers of the Constitution read it—Franklin and Jefferson, at least, and if they, or any of their famous successors, were shocked by it, they have left no record of the fact.

There may be stuff in that book which the present generation would rate as indecent. All that a disinterested outsider can say is that the book is rated as a classic, and the classics, from Shakespeare and the Bible through a long list, are usually regarded as exceptions to any such ban. Their other merits are held to atone for any flavor which, tolerable in its age, may be out of harmony with present taste. Rabelais, literally translated, also seems to be under a ban, which is not so surprising, yet provocative of honest argument.

Suppose the rule were applied generally. What would become of other examples of literary genius of many lands and times? Those who wanted to read Horace, Cervantes, Aristophanes, the Arabian Nights, would have to bootleg them. Likewise many a famous English classic. What would become, for instance, of Chaucer, whom our own James Russell Lowell, an eminently respectable Bostonian, called a "well of pure English undefiled?" And what of Dean Swift and Lawrence Sterne, the delight of our forefathers?

A USEFUL IMMIGRANT

The Department of Agriculture, having caught, killed and examined more than 2,000 starlings, submits proof that these birds are not destructive but beneficial. They destroy such large quantities of insects that the good they do agriculturally outweighs the harm.

So much for the dollar-and-cent value of this omnivorous immigrant. As for its social and esthetic value, the evidence accumulating is unexpectedly reassuring. From early reports, nearly everyone in this country was led to anticipate another pest like the English sparrow. But the sparrow's dusky fellow-countryman proves to be a different sort of fellow. He is pleasant and friendly, not excitable or combative, merely fighting when he is driven to it. And while many of the noises he makes are queer, they are not offensive. Often he is entertaining, and sometimes musical.

All of which is fortunate, inasmuch as the starling seems destined to overrun the whole country and remain permanently.

England is depicting the "American invasion" in a hundred ways. It is worried not only by American films, American motor cars, American razors and cash registers and other industrial products, but about the invasion of American humor. Ian Hay, in a recent lecture, undertook to show his countrymen just how grave the peril is. Our humor, he fears, is going to corrupt the pure English brand. It is too coarse, too broad, the artificial and calculated, too exaggerated. English humor, left to itself in all its simple beauty and charm, he explains, is more repressed and natural, and more human. We like to make fun of other people. The English, more kindly, are content to make fun of themselves. Granted, the English are funny people, but why be so serious about our belly jokes? Why not take 'em good-naturedly? In short, though we hesitate to suggest such extreme procedure—why not laugh at 'em?

Alfred Howell, a Canadian sculptor and art lover, casting a critical glance this way, observes: "The modern automobile is the most complete expression of beauty combined with utility that America has produced. More utility is no longer enough—the American people are demanding beauty as well." Thanks for these kind words. They will most with instant ascent on the part of multitudes. It is probably true that the present-day motor cars are very beautiful in themselves, judged as mere works of art. And there is no question how 124,600,000 of us feel about it. Take almost any American. Set before him a Greek statue, an old Italian painting, a medieval cathedral and a 1929 sedan, and ask him which is the most beautiful. He will laugh at your simple-mindedness, and choose the sedan.

Yes, we're a terribly wasteful nation. According to R. H. Ashton, president of the American Railway Association, preventable waste in industry amounts to $10,000,000,000 a year. This includes waste in manufacture and distribution. Even so, we are prospering more than any nation ever did. Our wealth is the envy of all the world. We are said to have a national income of perhaps $50,000,000,000 a year. We can stand a little waste. Yet that extra billion, nearly $100 a year apiece, would make a nice nest-egg for old age, or give us all a pleasant vacation every summer.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

AWAITING THE DIAGNOSIS

You have likely heard the story of the railroad foreman on whose section a bridge had been washed out. He instantly reported it, and in a few days a young engineer arrived and asked the foreman how the work on the new bridge was getting along and if the foreman had been able to follow the directions as outlined in the blue prints he had forwarded from headquarters.

The foreman said "I didn't get a chance to look at the blue prints as I was too busy getting the new bridge finished. The trains have been running over it for the past two days."

Some of our older physicians feel that this new fangled idea of sending a patient into a hospital and making tests of urine, blood, sputum, faeces, and so forth, which may take a couple of days, is all wrong. Their idea is that the first thought should be to try and find out by physical examination and questioning, just what is wrong with the patient and begin treatment at once.

These other tests can be made afterwards. Because even if the diagnosis is wrong the tests will correct it within a day or two and proper treatment can then be given.

And I believe most of us will be inclined to agree with the old-fashioned doctor on this point for one big reason.

When a patient has to go to the hospital and leave his home, there is immediately a tenseness of his mind and body, and a feeling of disquietude.

Of course as the young physicians or internes come to make the various tests he realizes something is being done for him that could not be done at home, but he gets a satisfaction from his own doctor as to what is really the matter with him. This means hours, even days, that he must be in this suspense.

And these hours of suspense can go a long way in reducing his "morale," his power of resistance. He loses that wonderful help that his doctor can give by going right ahead and treating him and continuing or changing his treatment as the results of the tests become known.

While the "mental hazard" enters into golf and other sports, and into many of our everyday normal actions, nowhere is it more apparent than with a patient away from home.

GOLD BULLETS

by Charles G. Booth

STOPOUS: Feeling that the chances of a gold mine were better than those of a newspaper, I drew it forth—a small newspaper, yellow and brittle with age. In spite of my care it split in two as I opened it and spread it on the floor of the tunnel. At the head of the front sheet was the legend:

COMMUNITY FIREBRAND
 A Weekly Newspaper
 Tarrytown, East Valley, Cal.
 Monday, July 6th, 1894.

Items of local interest occupied the front page: Gun Fight; Along Main; Another Hold-up at Lundy's; Bad Medicine Closes Down. And so on.

Part of the top margin of the third page had been torn off. With it had gone the date line. We stared at the torn margin in stupefaction, our hearts pounding in our ears. The curtain had lifted.

"This is where Furlie got your pistol, John," Henry said at length. "Yes. This is the pencil."

I stared down at the remains below me. "Jerry—what were you to Andrew?" I looked up at Deacon.

"I suppose this was Andrew's reason for keeping the mine closed," he said huskily. "It's a good thing you found the note in that cartridge, John."

"You mean you'd have assumed Andrew had killed this man himself, 30 years ago?"

He nodded. "We should have had to. Andrew steadfastly refused.

"Looks like that stuff we found in Ogden's desk," he muttered.

"The same," I said unsteadily.

"I had it assayed," he went on. "It ran $20,660 to the ton."

I whistled. "If there's any depth or breadth to the vein or if the hanging wall is good, it may run into millions. . . . Hello! what's this?"

We saw it at the same moment. A small, square, shining object, it stood in a niche just below the vein. My hand beat Deacon's. "A silver snuff-box," he grunted.

"It hasn't been here long by the look of it."

"It comes from one of the French Louis periods," I observed.

"Well, whose is it? You look as if you know something."

"It belongs to Nathan Hyde, Henry," I announced significantly.

"Hyde, Hyde," he muttered in perplexity. "It isn't like him to put a valuable down and forget it."

I chuckled. "He must have been deeply stirred. Taking snuff from his Louis snuff-box is a sort of a ceremony with Hyde."

Henry nodded reluctantly, pocketing the snuff-box. "Coming upon the vein was enough to make him forget it, eh? Well, we had already concluded he knew something about the mine."

His tone implied that there was nothing more to it than that, but I knew the snuff-box had given him something to think about, and I laughed to myself as we went on into the timbered passage.

We had gone some distance in the direction of the original entrance when I stopped abruptly, clutching Deacon by the arm.

I went a little sick, for I have no stomach for the grawsome. I had almost tripped over the skeleton of a tall man. It lay face up, arms folded. A few rags clung to the bones, high-laced boots covered the feet and ankles, a stout leather belt encircled the waist. Undoubtedly the skeleton had lain there many years, but from the uneven distribution of dust on it I judged it had been disturbed recently.

Deacon looked at me gayly. "Who is it, John?"

"I knew very well who it was, and so did he. Dropping to our knees, I gently ran my hands through the dust and gravel around and under the skeleton. I brought to light two bone buttons, four metal ones, a bit of candle, a two-inch wire nail and a stub of indelible pencil.

"Somebody else has been at him," Deacon muttered. "Furlie probably."

"See this!" I ejaculated.

The fifth right rib of the skeleton was sicked and split in the region of the heart.

"Bullet, by the look of it," Deacon commented.

"Here's something else!" I cried suddenly.

My fingers rummaging below the surface dust beneath the skull had

key. The hospitality of the place is known to many.

Open Woodstock Play House in June

(Special to The Kingston Freeman).

Woodstock, May 25.—About the second week in June the management of the new Woodstock Play House located on the property of the Woodstock Country Club will inaugurate a program of theatrical entertainment which will include many recognized successes of the legitimate stage, motion pictures that seldom, if ever, find their way to the hinterland, and vocal and instrumental concerts of the highest order.

The new play house is the culmination of an idea conceived some years ago and was made possible when the Woodstock Country Club took over its present property more than a year ago. Two large out-buildings adjacent to the club house have been converted into a theatre and have been equipped with scenic, lighting and other mechanical properties that make it comparable in every way to any modern theatre. The stage lends itself to the presentation of the most ambitious of legitimate productions. The auditorium has a seating capacity of 350. The exits permit leisurely emptying of the theatre within 30 seconds.

In keeping with the mechanical equipment of the theatre and the vision of its management is the program of legitimate stage plays already contracted for. The initial presentation will be Eugene O'Neill's "Emperor Jones" with its original star, Charles S. Gilpin, in the title role. Gilpin and his supporting company will arrive in Woodstock in about ten days to start rehearsals.

Following "Emperor Jones" will come James Keller's "The Torch-bearers" and negotiations are under way for other such well known successes. A number of manuscripts are now being perused with a view to giving an initial performance of one or more worth-while plays.

Charles S. Gilpin, who will appear in person in the title role of "Emperor Jones" is the outstanding colored actor of this country. He was the first of his race to organize an all-colored stock company for the presentation of legitimate plays. When the Provincetown Players undertook to present "Emperor Jones" the author, Eugene O'Neill, insisted that the title role should be played by the foremost colored actor in the United States. Gilpin was selected and following the first performance his stage fame overnight reached beyond the confines of his own race to become national.

The new Play House will be under the management of David Reasoner, president of the Woodstock Country Club. Realizing the importance of expert direction Mr. Reasoner has associated himself with Don Mullally, director, author and playwright who gave to the American stage such well known plays as "Laff Tag Off," "Conscience," etc.

Variety will be the dominant note of the new Play House policy. Interspersed between legitimate plays will be motion picture presentations of screen vehicles that will be unusual in character and in movie identification with the stereotyped program pictures. Also there will be vocal and instrumental concerts that will bring to Woodstock artists of the front rank.

By and large the policy of the new Play House bids fair to place Woodstock in an important spot in the light of theatrical importance.

From authentic reports the first talking machine was made from one of Adam's ribs, but Edison gets the credit for making the first one that could be shut off at will. Three things seldom in demand: Front seats at church, rear seats at the theatre, and rumble seats in the auto. "I don't mind shoveling coal in the furnace," said a Kingston man, "but carrying out ashes seems to me a waste of energy."

In that respect a man's shopping is different from a woman's. A man walks into a store, buys what he wants and walks out again. A woman spends all day buying what she doesn't want and then takes it back again.

Burdens either broaden shoulders or break backs.

"Your wife does so remind me of my elder sister."
"She reminds me a great deal of her first husband."

Underneath the City Hall Dome

Summer Weather Brings Out the City Hall Dome and Three Men Break the Changeable Weather by Wearing New Lids.

The belated warm weather finally struck Kingston with a boom on Sunday and porch chairs, which had spent the winter months in cellars and attics, were brought out, dusted off, and householders who did not own automobiles spent the afternoon on the front porches.

While the straw hat season officially opened the middle of May but few of the lids have so far been observed worn on the streets.

Among those who may be seen wearing the straw top pieces are Deputy City Clerk Nelson W. Snyder, Sanitary Inspector Nathan J. Cook and Superintendent Conrad Shuler of the city hall. All three men have decided to brave the changeable weather that has prevailed and it may be due to that fact that the first few days of this week have proven so ideal.

Kingston now has a city hall of which the residents can well be proud. To reconstruct and furnish the building has cost approximately $300,000. The building, with the exception of the exterior walls of brick, is entirely new. The walls have been artistically decorated in both rooms and corridors, and yet a young man who called at the city hall on business today was observed to place a cigarette in his mouth, reach in his pocket for a match, and negligently strike the match on the newly decorated wall on the lower corridor near the city court room.

Probably the young man was accustomed to lighting his matches on the walls in his home. And there is nothing like that "feel at home" feeling.

It is probably fortunate for other residents of the city, however, that this young man is an exception or the handsome new walls of the city hall would soon have to be redecorated.

Work on finishing up the minor details of the city hall are being pushed forward as rapidly as possible, and it is expected that the date for the formal opening of the building will shortly be fixed by the committee of the common council who have the matter in charge.

Expected Too Much

They were looking over a house the agent warmly recommended. It was in rather poor condition, and one room appeared to be particularly dilapidated.

"But look, man," cried the prospective tenant. "We couldn't live in a place like this! Why, there's actually moss growing on that damp wall."

The house agent flushed. "My dear sir," he retorted indignantly, "at the rental I'm asking, you surely don't expect orchids, do you?"

Important Notice about your TELEPHONE SERVICE

The reduced rates on evening and night calls between Fleischmanns, Haines Falls, Palenville, Phoenicia, Pine Hill, Tannersville and New York City will be suspended from MAY 25 to SEPTEMBER 10. The day rate will apply throughout the 24 hours.

THIS plan was instituted for the first time during the summer of 1928 and effected a very marked improvement in the toll service to New York as compared with the preceding years.

The problem of handling a very large volume of traffic during a short summer season at the majority of seasonal resorts becomes increasingly difficult each year despite the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars for new equipment. It is further aggravated by the fact that an unusually high percentage of these calls is made after 8:30 P. M. wherever the discounted rates apply. The elimination of the discounts is an effort to distribute calls more evenly through the day in order to help us give better service on these calls.

We feel that the public looks to us primarily to furnish fast, reliable telephone service. The elimination of the reduced rates during the summer months will relieve a condition that has made it impracticable to render the kind of service that you wish to receive and which we wish to furnish.

Every Driving Convenience Every Provision for Comfort Oldsmobile is

RESTFUL TO DRIVE

Not only does this finer Oldsmobile give you brilliant all-round performance—not only does it combine exceptional speed, power, and acceleration with stamina, long life, and economy of operation—but it is wonderfully restful to drive, no matter how long you remain at the wheel.

Come prove it yourself. Take an Oldsmobile for a trial drive. Make your own tests and comparisons. Relax in the comfortable, deep-cushioned driver's seat. It is instantly adjustable to the most natural position for your height. The steering wheel, too, may be adjusted to suit your individual preference. Gear-shift, starter, clutch, and brake are easy to reach and easy to operate. Instruments are conveniently arranged on the dash.

Drive through traffic. Note how Oldsmobile's flashing getaway and quick response to the controls simplify city driving—how fingertip steering and a short turning radius make parking easy, even in small spaces.

Try it on the open highway. Observe how Oldsmobile's smoothness, quietness and, splendid roadability permit restful relaxation at any speed. Test its swift, sure acceleration, its remarkable handling ease, its powerful four-wheel brakes. Drive over rough roads and see how four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers cushion your ride.

Then, when you know what Oldsmobile can do, and how it does it, compare it with other cars. You'll find that Oldsmobile gives you every driving luxury—every desirable convenience—every provision for comfort. That's why it is so restful to drive. That's why it is unsurpassed in value at its low price.

LINDY'S FLIGHT BOOMS FLYING

Intrepid Pilot Made Financial Backing Available for Aviation.

Washington.—The development of aviation in America as a big business, according to a report from May 21, 1929, when the Charles A. Lindbergh completed his transatlantic flight to Paris. Technically, the flight of Lindbergh proved relatively little to the aeronautical engineers. To them, as at first to the world, it was primarily a demonstration of the courage and skill of one great flyer.

The engineers already knew how to make airplanes like the Spirit of St. Louis. They knew how to make air-cooled engines, and knew that this type of motive power was at the point of making a great development in flying for long distances. They did not know until it happened that Lindbergh's feat would solve a problem which was more serious to the industry than any technical situation. It was destined to solve the problem of financing and to make money, and his name became a guarantee for aviation development.

All kinds of things began to happen after the Lone Eagle spanned the Atlantic. A well-known aviation magazine, widely edited, highly regarded by flyers and manufacturers, had struggled for years to acquire a circulation of about 5,000 copies a month. In three months it had 25,000 subscribers, without having put forth any special effort whatever. In May, 1927, the capital stock of the company which made the engine of Lindbergh's plane could be bought at less than $20 a share. The far-sighted investors who went out that day and bought this stock have realized ten, fifteen, or twenty times their investment, according to how they handled the stock thereafter.

The air mail, which was getting a little business at 10 cents a letter by dint of steady publicity and constant urge from the post office to use it, began to get tons of mail, and soon was able to cut the price to 5 cents a letter and get more tons. Small aviation companies with air mail contracts which had been wavering on the edge of bankruptcy became suddenly prosperous. Some which had been begging for passenger traffic in connection with the mail had to stop hauling passengers entirely to make room for the pouches.

Makes United States Air-Minded.
Lindbergh made America air-minded, and since that air-mindedness has taken the form of widespread investments in the stock of aviation companies, it is natural that many people want to put their money in "Lindbergh's company." It is quite clear to anyone who thinks about it that Lindbergh could at any time since that flight have launched any sort of aviation enterprise he cared to, and have sold $100,000,000 worth of stock in it. He has not chosen to do anything of the sort, nor has he allowed any stock to be directly sold on his name or reputation.

This is not because Colonel Lindbergh does not believe in aeronautical investments, but because he realizes how easily the power of his reputation could be abused, and knows that he cannot, in his own person, guarantee the financial success of any enterprise, even if he gave his whole time to its direction. There remain uncertainties in the business of aeronautics, in so far as profits are concerned. Colonel Lindbergh has been too wise to set himself up as a financier simply because he is a master technician of the air.

Various commercial aviation industries have to some extent profited indirectly by Lindbergh's connection with them. In advisory work or by his use of their products, but this has been a strictly legitimate and decidedly indirect connection. The flying colonel is adviser in technical matters for the Transatlantic Air Transport, which is about to launch a combined rail and air service from coast to coast, but he has had nothing to do with its financing, and this company, with the backing of two great railroad systems and a leading New York banker, among others, had no great occasion to sell stock to the public, although its stock is listed on some of the exchanges.

First Mail Flight.
Colonel Lindbergh made the first air mail flight to Panama, initiating the service of Pan-American Airways, a company which has since been bought by a subsidiary of the financial group which is the keener rival to the syndicate that owns a block of Transcontinental Air Transport. His technical advice has therefore been shared, quite recently, by two leading investment groups in the aeronautical field, with doubtless some advantage to each. Neither, however, is in any sense a Lindbergh proposition, or pretends to be.

Aviation financing, since the Lindbergh boom in aeronautics came to its aid, has gone ahead so fast that they have developed, in addition to manufacturing and operating companies, a number of holding companies and a number of so-called aviation investment trusts. The holding companies are designed to keep under one general control a variety of enterprises which connect with one another in operation. Thus the eastern group, of which C. M. Keys, a New York banker, is the guiding genius, holds stock through holding companies in airplane factories, air mail contract routes, airport operating firms, aviation schools, airplane selling organizations and air passenger lines. A western group, of which W. E. Boeing, the Seattle airplane manufacturer, is the central figure, but which has much New York money back of it, controls a similar group of aeronautical enterprises.

Financing Complicated.
Just how complicated airplane financing has become through the various holding companies is evidenced by the recent purchase of Pan-American Airways by the Boeing group. As reported in Wall Street, the actual transaction was the purchase by United Aircraft and Transport Corporation (the Boeing group) of 50,000 shares of stock in Aviation Corporation of the Americas. The latter was the stock of Pan-American Airways, United then also transferred to Aviation company of the Americas an option on Compañia Transportes Aereos Latino Americanos, which is a Mexican air-mail operator. The amateur investor in airplane stocks needs to know his companies and his holding companies.

The so-called aviation investment trusts, which as a rule are corporations and not literally trust companies, are organized to buy aeronautical stocks in such a diversified manner as to give the small investor the benefit of diversified holdings. They do not aim to buy controlling shares of any company, as the holding companies do, but only to diversify the investment of their shareholders in a wide variety of aviation industries, a plan considered as making for safety of investment. A number of these investment corporations have been organized in the last two years, and have found quite a lively market for their shares. If such a company could know the list of its holdings the amateur investor can gather some idea of how his money is being placed in varied aeronautical industries. If the list of investments is not published the investor more or less goes in blind, on his faith in the organizers of the investment corporation.

Investment Growing.
America's billion dollar investment in aviation stocks is greatly growing, as more and more people look forward to the day when flying commercially will return handsome profits. Meanwhile the manufacturing side of the industry is already profitable in many cases, and the values of aviation stocks have gone up steadily in response to successful management. There are about seventy-five companies in the field today manufacturing airplanes, besides many which make parts. The majority are making plans to sell under the $100,000 class. So many new types are being designed and turned out that the Department of Commerce is hardly able to keep up with the work of inspecting and testing new models for which licenses are asked. Prospective investors in this side of aeronautics have at least one test to apply to manufacturing companies, by inquiring whether their models are licensed. Until licensed they cannot be sold or operated commercially.

Colonel Lindbergh has made a thorough success of his task of making America air-minded in the stock market. He continues his quiet but effective career to make us air-minded in the air.

Campbell Staples Wins Silver Cup

Former Kingston Youth Awarded Silver Cup Given by Choate School to Best Athlete of Junior School—Active in School Life.

Campbell Staples, son of the late Seth S. Staples of this city, has been awarded the silver cup given by Choate School to the best athlete of the Junior School for the year of 1929. Young Staples also had one of the leading parts in the Junior Dramatic Club play given during the festival week at Choate.

Campbell was a student at School No. 4, Ponckhockie, and after leaving there entered Choate School, where he has since taken an active part in school activities. His many friends in this city will be glad to learn of his success at school. He is now a resident of Greenwich, Conn.

TO PRESERVE GLORY OF 20TH CENTURY

Ozark Pyramid to Hold Records of Civilization.

Monte Ne, Ark.—Long after our Twentieth century civilization is gone, and perhaps forgotten, a permanent and complete record of it may be found in a 130-foot pyramid being built here.

Even as the ancient inhabitants of Egypt preserved records of their civilization in the massive pyramids in the Nile valley, so will this towering pyramid in the foothills of the Ozarks preserve that of the Twentieth century.

Every item that goes to make up our modern civilization, from the now almost extinct hair pin to television and radio devices, is to be included.

It was years ago that William Hope Harvey, Rogers, (Ark.) millionaire, first conceived the idea of the Civilization pyramid, as it is to be known.

Student of History.

As a close student of history in college he studied the rise and fall of former civilizations and read how they had perished with records of their glory now almost extinct.

As he accumulated wealth his dreams to preserve the present civilization began to take definite form, and the starting of the present pyramid is the result.

The site of the unique structure is at the end of a spur of the Ozark mountains in the edge of a wide and fertile valley. These mountains are said by geologists to have been 14,000 feet high at one time and are among the oldest in the world. At their greatest height they are said to have dwarfed the Rockies by comparison.

The base is of concrete construction, 60 feet square. The pyramid resting on this base will be 40 feet square and 10 feet high. It will then be reduced to 32 feet square and extend an additional 35 feet and then 22 feet square and rise another 85 feet, shaftlike, ending at the top 6 feet square, to a total height of 130 feet.

In the part 32 feet square, now under construction, will be a room 16 feet square surrounded by a wall 8 feet thick. Two huge steel vaults will be built in this part. Other rooms of the same general construction are to be built above this.

Exhaustive tests have been made of all materials to go into the construction of the pyramid and it is predicted it will resist erosion for millions of years.

On a giant concrete tower that has

Light's Golden Jubilee

The Medallion, designed by Franklin Booth, and adopted as the official insignia for Light's Golden Jubilee to commemorate the 50th Anniversary of the perfection of the incandescent lamp by Thomas A. Edison. One side of the medallion shows the head of Edison, to whom a fitting tribute is to be paid by a series of celebrations, culminating on October 21, 1929, in a great festival of light, and bears the words "Light's Golden Jubilee. Thomas A. Edison." The other side of the medallion shows the progress of the electric lamp from its inception, 50 years ago, by Thomas A. Edison, to the perfected type of today, and bears the words, "Dedicated to Better Vision." By this is meant not only better vision as regards sight, but also the sort of vision that enabled Thomas A. Edison to proceed in spite of difficulties and obstacles, and pursue to a triumphant climax the inventions that result in untold blessings to all people today.

been built on the hillside above the pyramid is room for 1,000 persons to sit down and listen to a band that may play on a concrete bandstand in a lake 20 feet below.

On top of the shaft, for fear of erosive and volcanic disturbances, will be placed a plate of enduring metal underneath a layer of concrete, on which will read:

"When this can be read, go below and find a record of and cause of the death of a former civilization." Similar plates will be placed still lower, reading: "Go within."

Books in Glass Cases.

In one of the large vaults in the base will be placed a book giving the rise and growth of the present civilization. The book will be printed with special paper and between the pages will be transparent paper to help preserve the ink. Three copies of the book will be printed.

These books will be placed in heavy glass containers at a glass factory and the lid molded thereon. In one of the vaults also will be placed volumes of each industrial and scientific attainment and containing pictures and blueprints of all inventions. Pictures of animals and persons of different ages will be included.

The Bible, reference books, encyclopedias and histories also will have a niche in the vault. A key book to the English as well as all other languages will be included.

After everything is placed in the vaults the pyramid will be closed with reinforced concrete and plates bolted over the entrances.

Harvey and his associates fear this civilization, like others, may decay through selfishness, and like its predecessors, pass without any formal record of its accomplishments, thus the pyramid.

Black in Monte Carlo

After Plane's Collapse

Paris.—Van Lear Black, Baltimore publisher, was in Monte Carlo recently, following his airplane's forced landing near Bordighera, Italy.

Engine trouble forced the plane down while Black and his staff of five persons were returning to London from Capetown.

Repeated attempts of the plane to land alarmed spectators at Bordighera. The landing was finally accomplished near the shore at Torrente Nervia.

South American Woods

The principal woods imported from South America are mahogany and ebony, which are used for making furniture; Spanish cedar, which is used for cigar boxes, and greenheart, which is used for special dock construction. These come from the northern and eastern coasts of South America.

ACTIVITIES AT TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH.

During the English service in Trinity Lutheran Church, Spring and Hume streets, on Sunday morning, Oscar and Robert Lawatsch sang a duet.

The attendance at the German service was encouraging. The German services are held every Sunday morning at 9 o'clock. Pastor Pretzsch is heart and soul in the preservation of German services, and has held services every Sunday, summer and winter, in both German and English, since he has been pastor of Trinity, with the exception of the two Sundays allotted him as a vacation.

The German speaking members of Trinity are appreciative of the conscientious attention their pastor is giving to the German services. Pastor Pretzsch was born in New York city and is a product of the public schools.

There will be no week-day Bible school Thursday, Decoration Day, but the children who will recite and sing for Children's Day on Sunday night will meet this Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 in the basement of the church for practice. Parents are asked to remind their children who are to take part to come Wednesday.

The members of Trinity highly appreciate the interest their sexton, Henry Krenz, is taking in the church grounds. There is proof of much time and effort spent in beautifying the property. The landscaping at the front and side of the church, begun only a few years ago, has been a great improvement over the bare looking crushed-stone covered ground. The large bronze bulletin board looks well among the shrubbery in the front.

The infant son of Arthur Smith and Florence Krueger Smith was baptized Sunday in the church by Pastor Pretzsch, receiving the name of Arthur Edward Smith. The grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Krueger, were sponsors.

Helen Dorothy Lurie, infant daughter of Joseph Lurie and Bessie Stock Lurie of East Kingston, was baptized Sunday at the home of the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Stock, in Wilbur. Sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Tator of Wilbur.

Next week Pastor Pretzsch will attend Synod in St. John's Lutheran Church at Albany. The meeting of the three synods, the New York Ministerium, the New York and New England, and the New York Synod, will take place. The name of the merged synods will be the United Lutheran Synod of New York.

90° V-EIGHT PERFORMANCE for the First Time in the Medium Price Field

VIKING
PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

The Viking introduces distinctly new and desirable principles of engineering design to the medium-price field. It makes available, for the first time at a medium price, the definite superiority of the ninety-degree V-type eight-cylinder engine. It embodies new beauty and tailored smartness—the latest creations of Fisher artist-engineers.

The new Viking is particularly outstanding in performance. Its ninety-degree V-type eight-cylinder engine delivers 81 horsepower, with exceptional smoothness throughout the entire speed range. Its response to the throttle is remarkable, both in getaway from a standing start and in acceleration at the higher speeds. Its top speed is greater than the average motorist will use.

Advanced Engine Design

The natural compactness of the Viking engine, combined with the added strength obtained through ribbing and trussing the crankcase, provides exceptional rigid-ity—an important contributing factor in smoothness, quietness, and long life. The short, rigid crankshaft is counter-weighted for maximum balance and is supported by oversized bearings. The entirely new arrangement of the valves in the Viking represents an important advancement in automotive engineering practice, since it combines a high degree of fuel efficiency with quietness, simplicity, and rigidity. A distinct advancement in efficient fuel distribution results from a new type of controlled manifold based on the down-draft principle. After leaving the carburetor, the path of the vapor is always downward, assisted by gravity, an equal distance to each cylinder. The lubricating and cooling systems are also remarkably efficient. Thermostatically-controlled radiator shutters are standard equipment.

Important Chassis Features

The Viking chassis shows remarkable strength and endurance throughout its construction. The frame tapers to the front to permit a short turning radius and is double-dropped to provide a low center of gravity and great roadability. To assure deceleration in keeping with its speed and getaway, the new Viking has oversize mechanical four-wheel brakes of the new two-shoe internal-expanding type.

Every provision has been made for riding and driving ease. Four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers, synchronized with the springs, provide restful riding. Fingertip steering and easy parking result from the worm-and-split-nut steering gear and short turning radius. Both steering wheel and driver's seat are adjustable.

Latest Fisher Style Creations

Viking bodies by Fisher are smartly styled and beautifully proportioned. Trim radiator—sweeping full-crown fenders—graceful hood—tailored body lines—all blend into a pleasing and harmonious design... as smartly patrician in appearance as any car on automobile row. Upholsteries are rich in quality, tasteful in design. Seats are deep-cushioned, and incline at just the right angle to provide armchair comfort. Appointments and hardware of dignified pattern are expressive of fine automobile luxury.

The new Viking is now on display. Come in and see this outstanding new eight. Study it... drive it... match it against the field in appearance, performance, and engineering. Your own good judgment will tell you that it stands entirely alone in value, among cars of medium price.

Events Around the Empire State

(By The Associated Press.)

Albany.—This city, according to Albany Hotel Association, has the best factory in the world for the manufacture of potato chips.

Rochester.—A couple of bags of wheat, some yards of building paper and a few cables have given a lease of life to this city's largest oldest elm tree. Its age has been estimated at 150 years and according to tree surgeons who recently operated on it the tree may live another 300 years.

Dunkirk.—Dunkirk taxpayers will be called upon to pay the highest taxes in the city's history, $8.34 on the thousand, this year, officials have announced. The common council has authorized by the legislature to increase taxation by $52,660, the extra revenue to be used to reduce bonded indebtedness and to meet increased cost of city expenses.

Rochester.—The English starting, imported many years ago to aid in insect extermination, has become a pest to other song birds, according to the current monthly bulletin of the Rochester Municipal Museum. The flocks of starlings, once rare about this city, have increased, according to an observer, to the point where they are killing many native songbirds in their insatiable quest for food and nesting places.

Albany.—One-third of the people of the United States live within a radius of 200 miles of this city, according to the Albany Hotel Association.

Watertown.—A large volume of photographs depicting Italy's part in the World War, presented by the Italian government to the late Robert Lansing, war-time secretary of state, has been turned over to the Flower Memorial Library by his widow.

Syracuse.—More than 5,000 members of the New York State Teachers Association are expected to attend the annual meeting of the Central District here, October 24 and 25.

Old Paper Is Brought to Light

(By C. A. Winchell.)

Shokan, May 25.—An old paper of considerable historical interest, which was for a long time in the possession of the well known broadhead family, has been found among the effects of a resident of this place and is now offered for publication.

The document is in the form of an abstract of purchases made in the year 1773, and the items listed represent foodstuffs collected by the commissary department of the Continental Army. Although the paper is a century and a half old, the writing is almost entirely legible, the ink being only slightly faded.

The ancient sheet, which is about 14x15 inches, is ruled off into twelve columns, having the following five headings: Persons Named; Dates; Specie & Quantity; Amount in Continental Currency; and Amount of Continental Reduced to Specie Value. Written across the top of the sheet is this explanatory general heading:

Abstract of Purchases made by Conradt Elmendorph, assistant commissary of purchases under the direction of Jacob Cuyler, Esq., Com. Genl. of Purchases, for which he stands accountable, for individuals. (The words "is indebted" was first indited, but was crossed out and the words "stands accountable" interpolated instead.)

Taking a few of the names of persons, items of produce, and paper and specie values, the entries read in the following manner:

Petrus Elmendorph, (note the old Dutch spelling of both Christian and surnames), July 6th, 23 head of cattle, 6150 pounds (currency value), $1024.45 (specie value).
Andries Lefever, Oct. 1st, 1773, 10 bushels wheat, 59 pounds, $9.76.
Jonathan Elmendorph, Aug. 25th, 1 barrel soap, 20 pounds, $2.75.

The lower half of the sheet is sub-headed "Continental Expenses," under which is itemized such expenses as pasturing cattle and carting wheat and provisions. For instance:

Wynlie Hasbrouck, Sept. 30th, 1773, For carting wheat, 1 pound, 16 shillings.
Thomas Echoomaker, Nov. 1st, For pasturing cattle, 668 pounds, 8 shillings.

In these entries, under Contingent Expenses, none of the currency figures are reduced to specie value except two of three of the sums running into the hundred pounds. The sum total of the amounts listed is 15,642 pounds, no shillings, nine pence.

Rather interesting, also, is the fluctuation in Continental currency values, as shown by the entries for different months of the same year. Thus, in July, the ratio of specie to currency was about one to six, while in October it had changed to about one to eight dollars to pounds.

Although there is a column reserved for pence, the only entry in the low denomination made is that of an item of 30 barrels of flour, bought of Marius Leavenworth on February 13, 1773, at the currency price of 337 pounds, 15 shillings, 9 pence.

The names of the pioneers mentioned in the paper other than those given above follow:

Andries Lefever, Jacob Hasbrouck, Jr., Joseph Thorn, Daniel Broadhead, Hendrick Smith, Simon Dubois, Ephraim Chambers, Benjamin Freer, Charles W. Broadhead, Jacob Hasbrouck, Elizabeth Deyo, Benjamin Freer, Lawrence Alsford, Benjamin Meyers, William Meyers, Benjamin Van Keuren, Benjamin Deyo, Johannes Cuyt, John Depew, Andries Lefever, Junior, Jacob Hasbrouck, Junior.

Although there is nothing in the old document, save the personal names, to indicate the geographical scope of the provisioning operations here recorded, it is probable that most of the purchases were made in the more southerly townships. The Broadheads, for one, were from Marbletown, even those of the family residing in Olive in the early part of the last century being residents of that part of the town which was taken from Marbletown in 1823 to make up, when combined with sections detached from Hurley and Denning, the township of Olive as it is now bounded.

In Judge A. T. Clearwater's history of Ulster County, mention is made of Capt. Charles Broadhead, one of the three trustees of Marbletown in the year 1768, while Capt. Daniel Broadhead is referred to as the commander of a company of militia in 1738.

The Elmendorph family probably lived in Hurley. In the judge's history there is an account of a "Conradt Elmendorph," who offered slaves for sale in the following advertisement:

"The bearer, Ssm, his wife, a young healthy wench and a negro boy of about two years old, are for sale. The Negro has Permission to look a master for himself and his wife and child. The Terms of the Payment will be made easy to the Purchaser. Whoever is inclined to purchase is desired to apply to "Conradt Elmendorph."

Hurley, March 12, 1785.
It is added, however, that the slaves were not sold, but were given to Mr. Elmendorph's son, Jonathan, for "love and affection."

The Dewitts are mentioned as being numbered among the early residents of Wawarsing. New Palitz can probably lay claim to being the home town of the Freer, Hasbrouck, Dubois and Lefever families concerned in the document. Thus, Jacob Hasbrouck, Jr., was a private in Capt. Zacharias Hoffman's foot company of militia in 1744, as was also Symon Dubois, while numbered among the Palitz patentees families past signers in 1744 were Benjamin Freer, Benjamin Deyo, Jacobus Hasbrouck, Simon Dubois and Andries Lefever, Jr. Finally, one Jacobus Hasbrouck, Jr., was one of the "Dusties" or twelve officers of the town when it was incorporated in 1785.

Daniel Schoonmaker was listed as a voter in the town of Rochester in 1740, and it is probable that the De-

Here's the Proof of Quality

Let us show you this simple test.

Two cords of exactly the same length—one Good-year-developed and Good-year-patented SUPERTWIST, the other the usual standard cord—are placed on these machines. Exactly the same amount of strain is given both—then released. What happens?

SUPERTWIST snaps back to its original tautness like a rubber band. The other cord sags—remains inert. It has lost its spring. You see the comparative tension illustrated in the foreground.

We start again in the same way—fresh SUPERTWIST cord, fresh cord of the usual standard—both the same length. The strain is applied—increased, SNAP! the cord breaks, while SUPERTWIST remains intact. That's what happened on the machine in the background.

There's the proof of SUPERTWIST'S superiority before your eyes. Goodyear Tires, made of SUPERTWIST, stretch and recover under road shocks. A Tires made of ordinary cord lack this resiliency and react as you have just seen.

The elasticity—the durability—of SUPERTWIST, has eliminated blowouts and similar troubles.

That's why we sell Goodyears—because we know they will stand the gaff of hard service.

Come in soon. It will be a pleasure to perform this interesting test for you.

PLEASING RECITAL

very enjoyable recital was given by Miss Mayme I. Gumaer, and pupil of Miss Virginia Losap, with Mrs. Florence W. Cullen, violinist, as assisting artist at Mary's Hall on Friday evening under the auspices of the Mary Society of St. Mary's Church.

The large audience was most cordial in its reception of Miss Gumaer in her first formal recital, and very appreciative of her pleasant voice, clear-cut diction and admirable rendering of the varied program in which the vocal numbers were pleasingly varied with the obligato to some of them.

Kingston musical audiences always enjoy hearing Mrs. Cullen's selections given according to the program.

Miss Edna Merrihue was the excellent accompanist for Miss Gumaer.

Mrs. Cullen was accompanied by Mr. William S. Eltinge.

The program was as follows:

Pickled Peaches, Peaches Add Pleasing Variety

Pickled fruits are a part of the canning business in most households, pickled peaches, peaches and crabapples being favorites and adding a pleasing variety to the winter fare.

Crabapples make the best sweet pickled peaches. Pare and stick a few cloves in each peach, and pack closely in a wide-mouthed jar.

Then pour over them spiced vinegar made in the proportion of three cups of sugar to one of good cider vinegar and one teaspoonful each of stick cinnamon and whole allspice. The sugar, vinegar and spice are boiled together for several minutes and then poured over the fruit in the jar.

For those who like a definite recipe for a certain amount of peaches, the following is an excellent one that has been tried many times and found to be excellent:

3 bushels fruiting—1 stone peaches 1 gallon vinegar 8 pounds sugar 1 ounce cloves

The rubbers and tops are adjusted and the jars placed in pressure cooker. Home-makers should process or can under pressure, as it saves time and fuel and insures perfect keeping qualities. The advantage of using steam pressure for canning is that the canning is done in a vacuum and the time of cooking is therefore greatly reduced.

Pickled peaches, peaches and crabapples, when canned in the pressure cooker, retain their shape, color and delicious spicy flavor because they are placed directly in the cans, the sirup poured over them and they are not disturbed.

In the case of pickled peaches, after pouring the prepared sirup over the peaches, the rubbers and tops are adjusted and the jars are placed on the rack of the cooker with two cups of water in the bottom, and cooked for ten minutes at ten pounds pressure.

Wait until the steam gauge registers zero before opening the petcock. Then remove the jars and tighten the covers. Wrapping glass jars before storing them prevents the light from bleaching the contents.

Pickled or spiced crabapples are washed but not pared. They may be spiced with the steam on. The same sirup recipe can be used. Pickled apples and figs can be prepared exactly the same as the peaches. Crabapples are cooked fifteen minutes at fifteen pounds pressure. Apples and figs require only ten minutes at ten pounds pressure.

Here is a good recipe for spiced peaches:

1 lb. hard peaches 1/2 oz. whole cloves 3 1/2 lbs. brown sugar 1/2 oz. whole allspice 3 cups vinegar 2 oz. stick cinnamon 1 oz. ginger root 1/2 lemon (juice and rind)

Gray and black is a color combination of importance this season. The picture shows a charming outfit, with the frock of pearl gray crepe, a hat of black felt trimmed with gray straw, a silver fox scarf, and black shoes and purse. The ruffled effect of the frock is a popular fashion.

Short Jacket Is Chic With Sleeveless Dress

Reversing the usual rule, short jacket ensembles that used to belong mainly to sports fashions are presently featured for general or formal wear. To a certain extent these new short jacket ensembles take the place of the suit that used to be the most popular evening costume. But they have the advantage of more charm than the tailored suit with its severity, and of having a dress, usually sleeveless or with abbreviated sleeves, that is just as attractive when the jacket is taken off as when it is worn.

Four Had First Rail

Port was the first South American country to grant a railway concession. This was done in May, 1888. The line from Lima to Callao did not go into operation until April 5, 1891, but this was the first railroad trip ever taken in South America.

SPORTS CLOTHES REVERT TO MASCULINE TYPES IN PARIS

And in General Sports Clothes Are Put in Their Place.

New York—If American women are to take their cue from Paris this summer, one of the very first things for them to do is to lay in an assortment of tuck-in blouses, or shirts. The same color range as has been associated with men's shirts is employed, the accent being of blue, with yellow, pink, green and also tan. These blouses are completed by Peter Pan collars with a four-in-hand tie.

Paris reports are concerned with sports wear in navy, and also in brown, with some mention of grey flannel. A rather curious throw back to masculine attire is evidenced in these reports, all the more curious because fashion has gone so unconsciously feminine in things other than for sports. Of course the spectator type of sports frock is usually ultra feminine, the trend being to relegate sports wear to its proper sphere, and to wear clothes entirely outside of its influence for other occasions.

Fabric hand bags, repeating the tweed or whatever is used for suit or coat are a distinctive touch and contribute considerable chic to travel or sports costumes. The felt cloche still remains the usual headgear choice for such a costume, while straw hats are preferred for more formal costumes. The tweed cloche should come in for a word, especially when it is strapped with leather.

Sports skirts, frequently circular, are usually mounted on a well fitted yoke, and waistlines are as near to normal as the figure will stand. Hand-knit sweaters tend to rather conservative colors and designs, and are worn with or without cardigans.

A new development in sports shoes is reported. These are inspired by the Norwegian ski boot. Dark brown heavy leathers are the appropriate preference for women golfers and worn of course with wool, or like hose.

The increasing need for matching the shoe to the costume, or its accessories is being felt. The silhouette determines the type of shoe, and the texture of the costume governs, or should govern the choice of shoe leather—or fabric. For evening, the opera pump holds first position.

Paris continues to be intrigued by Spanish hats and is dallying with other Spanish themes which is of course the result of the several fairs which are attracting tourists to Spain this season.

The introduction of the under brim trimming, usually in flower form the most oft repeated expression of the Spanish note. Agnes who is the chief exponent of Spanish millinery makes effective use of the pomegranate flower, which it is said is its debut in the fashion world.

The world waits agog for a confirmation of the bare-legged craze, a much predicted one, but there are many conservatives who frown upon the idea and will have none of it even for country wear. Others compromise by pinning their faith to sports socks gay in color and undoubtedly appealing to youth at least.

To set these evils—from the hosiery industry angle at least—there are many interesting sports hose, including those in list mesh effects and in polka dots.

Prefine Painter

Corot painted several hundred landscapes, besides historical and religious subjects, etc. He also left a few etchings and pencil sketches. Some of his best known works are: "Dance of the Xymphe," in the Louvre, Paris; "Villie d'Aray," in the Metropolitan museum, New York; "Souvenir d'Italie" in Glasgow Art gallery; "Dante and Virgil" in Boston Art museum. The Louvre has about 80 of his works.

PLATTEKILL GRANGE INITIATES LARGE CLASS

The regular meeting of Plattekill Grange held on Saturday evening was again largely attended. Degrees were conferred on a large class of candidates by the regular initiation team. The degree work was put on most efficiently and the team merited much commendation. The usual ritualistic proceedings were enhanced by a floral court and a grand march which was most spectacular and impressive. The following young ladies graced the court: Thelma and Vera DeVoe, Mrs. Burton Ward, Mrs. Ernest Walte, Maella Paltridge, Marion and Ruth Robinson, Charlotte Stumphel, Lolita Harris, Marion Harris, Hazel Lippincott, and Ethel Lozier. James Wilkin served as page. Marjorie Minard, Florence Lenney, Gertrude and Mabel Tremper and Dorothy Thorne were flower girls. This was presented under the direction of the lecturer, Mrs. Charles Jenkins.

A memorial service was held in charge of the chaplain, J. B. Minard, as follows: Song, America; prayer, the Rev. J. W. Taylor; piano solo, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," by May Minard; reading, The Blue and the Gray, by Ethel Lozier; reading, "Because They Cared," by Mrs. Leander Minard. Flowers were laid on the altar in memory of one deceased member during the year, the late Philip Jenkins.

Mr. Mort, a representative of Cobleskill Agricultural School was present and gave some fitting remarks.

Mrs. Charles Jenkins was appointed as a delegate to Ulster County Pomona Grange session to be held at Mt. Tremper on June 7.

I Owe My Present Good Health To Dr. French's Nu-Erb

High Falls Resident Tells How It Rid Him Of Backache, Stomach Disorders And Neuritis.

"For the first time in ten years, I am free from stomach disorders and severe pains of neuritis and because I owe my new feeling of health to Dr. French's Nu-Erb. I am only too glad to give my statement so that others may know about this wonderful medicine," said Mr. William Sheely, well-known farmer of High Falls, N. Y. (Near Kingston).

"Before using this medicine, I was in continual misery and distress because of indigestion and severe pains through my stomach. My back ached continually, my kidneys were apparently in a weakened condition and I suffered from shooting pains through my limbs. I was also troubled with burning, gnawing pains of neuritis and headaches that lasted for days at a time.

"I had used so many different medicines without getting any relief that I was frankly discouraged with them all, but after reading so much about Nu-Erb, I decided to give it a trial and it was a lucky day for me that I did, for it has actually made a new man out of me. I can eat just anything I want now and never know that I have a stomach. The pains across my back and the pains of neuritis have entirely disappeared. My limbs are more limber and stronger than they have been for years and I am also free from those distressing headaches. I can highly recommend Nu-Erb and will gladly do so to anybody who is suffering from similar troubles."

McBride Drug Store, 512 Wall St., is headquarters for Dr. French's Nu-Erb. Go see the Nu-Erb man now making his headquarters there and let him explain to you the merits of this remarkable medicine.

WHY STUDY ECLIPSES?

Flames Shooting Out From Surface of the Sun.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

ON THE ninth of May the sun and moon staged another of their great periodic dramas in which the Queen of the Night for a few minutes banished the King of the Day and ruled the sky.

No one in America or Europe could see this great show of the heavens, for the moon's shadow swept over only a narrow band extending from the middle of the Indian ocean to beyond the Philippine Islands; and the pencil of darkness traced most of its line over water. But it crossed land in northern Sumatra, the southern tip of Siam and the northern Malay states; just touched southern Cambodia, and swept across the middle Philippines. But so important was this brief blotting out of the sun to the scientists of the world that parties of them journeyed to these far off lands in the path of the shadow, taking with them elaborate instruments and cameras. Yet the total eclipse that brought about all this travel and expense lasted only five minutes in Sumatra, and less than four in the Philippines.

It was not the darkness itself that interested the observers, but rather the bare of light that appeared around the circumference of the lightless moon, for that is the chromosphere of the sun and it holds many secrets. Also, they wanted to see the stars that shine immediately past the edge of the blotted-out sun, for their position may shed new light on the Einstein theory.

Meanwhile the man in the street will be wanting to know what is the use of such investigations anyway; and if the astronomer takes time to answer, it will be to say, "I don't know."

Nor could anyone foretell what new truths would be discovered, or foresee what new applications to human welfare they may have.

But new scientific knowledge always has a way of turning men's minds to its application to human necessities.

Today, in peace times, we see the great dirigible, the Los Angeles, flying through our skies without fear of the gas explosion which has wrecked so many superb lighter-than-air craft. And all largely because Lockyer, in 1868, training his spectroscope on the great flames that shoot out from the rim of the sun, detected a new line in their spectrum. He noticed its close resemblance to the lines of hydrogen and concluded it must be the spectroscopic signature of a light gas unknown to terrestrial chemists.

How Helium Was Found.

Twenty-eight years passed, with everybody thinking that this gas was a stranger to the earth. Then Sir William Ramsay obtained minute quantities of a new gas from uraninite. Imprisoned in a test tube and electrically excited, it began to glow. Studied with the spectroscope, it showed the same telltale autograph that Lockyer had observed.

More years passed. The World war was on, and America had entered it. The housewives of the plains of Kansas had been complaining of the quality of their natural gas. It didn't make enough heat or sufficient light. A middle-western university professor, H. P. Cady, was sent down to find out the trouble. In his spectroscope appeared once more the unmistakable signature that had come to Lockyer, Ramsay, and to Sir Ernest Rutherford in his manifold investigations of radio activity. It told him why that gas wouldn't produce sufficient heat and light—it contained helium, as inert as stone and playing the same role in the natural gas that slate plays in coal.

Then the American Chemical society met. The university professor was put on the program to tell of his discovery. He apologized for intruding a theme upon the attention of that great body which could not, by the longest stretch of his imagination, have any bearing on the momentous issue before which all other matters should stand silent. But after he spoke, a venerable British savant declared that he need offer no apology; that if the war went on another two years the professor's contribution would do more to promote victory than all the other contributions to the proceedings.

Then came helium as the straw that would break the Hohemollers back. If all other weights should fail, it made possible the construction of giant dirigibles which could conduct raids over the enemy lines without fear of inflammable bullets.

And it was the training of a spectroscope on a huge flame on the rim of the sun during an eclipse that had first revealed this element.

Thrills in Astronomy.

Romance? Astronomy offers more thrills to the alert human mind than all the fiction in the Library of Congress could provide!

Recently millions of people listened in on the election speeches and returns, and marveled once more at the wonders of radio. But they little dreamed that a patient Danish astronomer had done the pioneer work which released Bell's telephone from the bondage of wires and made the ether of space its servant.

When Roemer found that eclipses of the moons of Jupiter occurred 18 minutes earlier when Jupiter and the earth were on the same side of the sun than when on opposite sides, he deduced that light was not instantaneous, but traveled at about 186,000 miles a second.

Clerk Maxwell concluded that light, to travel at such a velocity, must be electro-magnetic, and that there must be other wave lengths than those which register on the human eye.

Hertz detected these hypothetical waves, Marconi harnessed them to signaling, and Pupin made them the burden bearers of sound. Vacuum tubes can now take the infinitesimal bit of energy these waves possess after spanning a continent—a bit of energy no greater than a tiny fraction of that expended by a fly in crawling up a window pane—and, "stepping them up" and amplifying them, make them capable of producing a room-filling sound.

Here is an inkling of a solution of the problem of power sources after coal and oil supplies are gone. Studying Sirius, the gay Dog Star, and his less brilliant companion, astronomers have found indications that this satellite of the Dog Star has nearly as much mass as the sun, although it is only a little larger than the earth.

If that be true, then there are states of matter of which man never dreamed before. On that basis this dark star would be 50,000 times as heavy as the same bulk of water. In other words, a pint of the material composing that star would weigh 25 tons.

The world is looking for a good conductor of electricity that will enable industry to transmit power long distances without undue loss of energy. It is possible that this new understanding of the constitution of matter might lead to the open door of a new and better conductor to take the place of the diminishing supply of copper in the transmission of electrical power. Should such a conductor be found, then the melting snows of the Rockies and the Andes, of the Alps and the Himalayas, might turn the wheels of the world's industries, light the lamps of its homes, and produce all the fires of its kitchen ranges and sitting-room fireplaces.

The astronomer and the physicist have pooled their forces in cross-examining the atom. In the test tubes of the laboratory and the cosmic crucibles of the skies, they are attacking it with X-rays, spectroscopes, and other instruments of atomic torture, to make it surrender the secret it has withheld from humanity for so long.

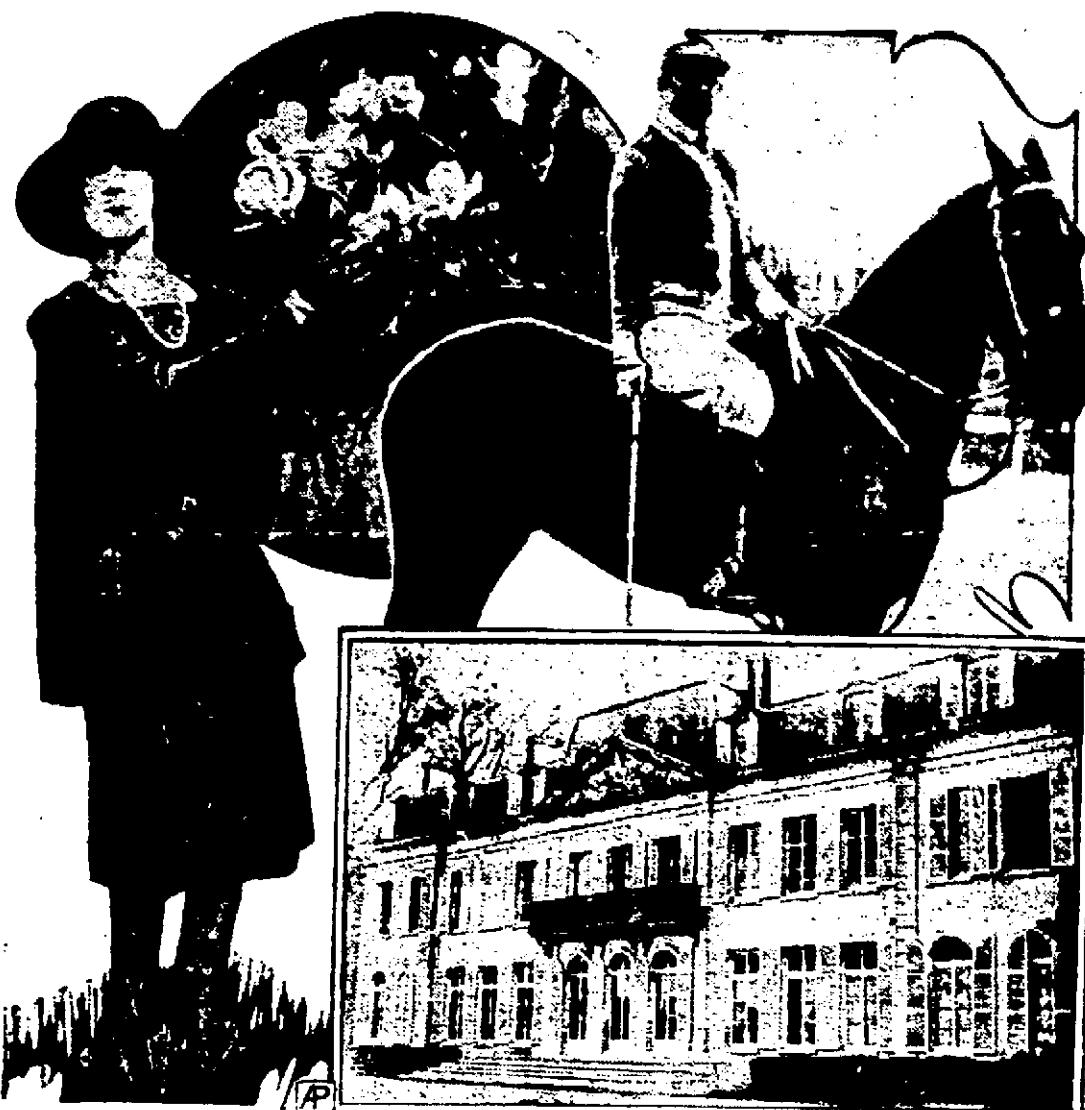

When Madame Curie discovered radium and Rontgen produced the X-ray, they gave the world an inkling of the unheard-of powers that dwell within these infinitesimal solar systems; and with inconceivably small amounts of this power the physicist is bombarding the atoms to break them up, while the astronomer is studying the forces that affect them in the sun and the fixed stars.

The radium atom tells the physicist and the astronomer that atoms explode just as molecules do, only with infinitely more power.

The fastest explosion that man has ever been able to produce has been at the rate of about 7,700 yards a second. The radium atom, in its disintegration, hurries its fragments at the rate of 12,000 miles a second, nearly 3,000 times as fast as the fastest known molecular explosion.

Will the physicist, with his super-powered electric furnace, and the astronomer, with his flaming stars, working hand in hand, and often, as a unit, be able to wrest the atom's secrets from it?

the good fellowship and helpfulness of his associates at Albany something almost beyond belief and he was happy and there could be no doubt about that fact.

The days are not long enough for Mr. Haines to do all that he finds he can do. He told of learning to read (Braille) and of his great desire to own a Bible for he had always been interested in church work, especially Christian Endeavor activities, but a Braille Bible costs a good deal of money. When he told Mr. Frost of his desire, Mr. Frost found that some Sunday school had contributed a sum of money to be used for just such a purpose, so Mr. Haines now has his several books that comprise his Bible, and he read to the women present a portion of the 19th Psalm, according to the American version. Mr. Haines closed his remarks by sincerely thanking the ladies for the wonderful help they were giving the blind people of New York state. A rising vote of thanks was extended Mr. Haines for coming to Kingston and personally showing what the work really does mean to blind people.

New Officers Chosen.

This year an entirely new corps of officers for the sale has been chosen, thus relieving those who have been so efficient in the past and giving a quite different group of women the

The Life Melody.

There is no music in a rest, but there is the making of music in it. In our whole life-melody the music is broken off here and there by "rests" and we foolishly think we have come to the end of time. Be it ours to learn the time and not be dismayed by the "rests."—Ruskin.

ADVERTISING

STUNTS

ADVERTISING, like every other detail of successful business, is competitive. The merchant who is cleverest in his buying, his store service and window displays, is most favored with constructive patronage.

Advertising must be more than merely sincere—it must be appealing, attractive. Clever advertising is the product of experts—adepts in copy, layouts, ideas that make advertising stand out in attractiveness and reach out in appeal.

May we apply clever "stunts" to your advertising? We're a staff organized to do just that—and at no cost to you. A representative will supply details as to how you gain these advantages—Free.

EVENING OF DICKINSON MUSIC AT FIRST REFORMED.

An evening of Dickinson music will be given at the First Reformed Church on Sunday, June 2, by the choir of that church under the direction of the organist, W. Whiting Frederburgh.

Dr. Clarence Dickinson is known to many in this city as the organist of the Brick Presbyterian Church of New York city and will be remembered as having played here at the dedication of the organ in this church. Dr. Dickinson is a prolific composer of anthems, solos and organ music. Many of his compositions are used at the regular services of this church and it has seemed that an evening devoted entirely to the music of this composer would be interesting to the congregation and their friends.

SUSPENSION OF NIGHT TELEPHONE RATES.

The New York Telephone Company in an advertisement in The Freeman is again calling attention to the fact that the reduced rates on evening and night calls between New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Haines Falls, Painesville, Phoenix, Pine Hill, Tannersville and New York city will be suspended from May 25 to September 10. During this period the regular day toll rates will prevail throughout the twenty-four hours. The change is being made in order to enable the company to render faster and better toll service through the reduction of the heavy volume of calls filed in the evening after 8:30 p. m.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

A HARD-WORKING MOUSE

IN A somewhat aimless after-dinner walk the other evening I was attracted to a crowd which had gathered in front of the window of a dealer in house pets.

As the crowd next to the window satisfied its curiosity and moved on I gradually came to see that a group of fifteen or twenty human beings of which I was about to become one, had been watching the activities of a small white mouse which was the temporary resident of a new and shiny cage.

At the top of the cage was a sort of nest attached to the wires and filled with bits of cotton. Below in the floor of the cage was a feeding box and in front of that a flat tin disk, some six inches in diameter, so tilted upon a pivot axis that if you placed any weight upon any part of it that part which bore the weight would immediately turn so that it would be the lowest part of the disk. In other words, if a living object attempted to climb up the disk it would turn as fast as the object ascended and the object itself would always be traveling uphill and getting nowhere.

The white mouse pursued a program about after this plan: He would rest for a few minutes in his nest. Then he would climb down the side of the cage to the food box, nibble for a minute, and then running around to the front of the floor of the cage, he would jump upon the disk, and as he did so the disk would begin to revolve. The faster he ran, in his attempt to climb, the faster the disk would revolve, with the mouse always at the bottom.

For three or four minutes at a time the mouse would run as fast as he could. A human being running as fast as that mouse, in proportion to his size and weight, would have gone ten or twelve miles at a marvelous rate of speed.

After his period of running the mouse would suddenly stop, the disk would cease to revolve, he would go to the food box, nibble for a minute and then climb to his nest for a short rest, only to repeat the whole performance over again.

The mouse during the time that he was running appeared to be putting forth every physical effort of which he was possessed. He was doing everything that he could so far as running was concerned, but he was getting nowhere.

I wondered as I stood there how many of the men and women who had stopped to watch him had learned any lesson from that caged mouse and his fruitless endeavors.

That mouse demonstrated a good lesson. He taught those who watched him—if they thought at all about the thing they were looking at—that every man and woman ought, every little while, take a look around and see if they are going ahead, if they are advancing, if they are adding something, however little, to what life and its efforts should accumulate in wealth, experience and wisdom.

There are too many of us who, like the mouse, let our lives consist of working, eating and sleeping, without knowing definitely what we are accomplishing.

Perhaps if we made an honest estimate of what we are doing and what the results are, we would stop being foolish mice and turn to something more productive and more to our credit.

The thing for us to do is to make an honest estimate of what we are doing and what it truly amounts to and guide our future endeavors accordingly.

Don't Be a Goose

A teacher asked her class to write an essay on geese. This paper was turned in by an eight-year-old miss: "Geese is a low, heavy-set bird which is most meat and feathers. His head sits on one end and he sits on the other. He ain't got no between-his-toes and he's got a balloon in his stomach to keep him from sinking. Some geese when they get big has curls on their tails and is called ganders. Ganders don't haff to sit and hatch but just eat an' loaf and go in swimming. If I was a goose I'd rather be a gander."—Pathfinder Magazine.

Business Reverses

The wayfarer was making an appeal for charity from a well-dressed gentleman.

"Well," said the other, "I seem to remember you. Didn't you have a little business of some sort once upon a time? Don't tell me you've taken up begging?"

"Yes, I have, sir," returned the other. "I've got no other way to get along since I lost my business."

"But how did you come to lose it?" "My business was a one-hand laundry," said the mournful soul, "an' one day my wife just up an' left me."

A Handicap

"But surely," said the haughty passenger, "if I pay the fare for my dog he will be treated the same as other passengers and be allowed to occupy a seat?"

"Of course, madam," the guard replied politely, "provided he does not put his feet on it."

Sleep Without Drugs Says Eminent Specialist

Former Bottle Creek Sanatorium Physician States Amazing Flaxolyn Discovery Relieves Constipation Condition Naturally, Brings Sound, Restful Sleep by Perfecting Digestion. Specialist Gives Formula.

Dr. George Starr White (M. D., LL. D., F. R. S., A. J. London Author of "Health," "Youth," etc., says: "Flaxolyn helps bring sound sleep."

Thomas Martindale (Ph. N. D.), Philadelphia, Penn., dietitian, says: "Flaxolyn creates keen, healthy appetite."

Thousands of people here who formerly suffered nights of sleeplessness and days of agonizing stomach distress due to constipation, now feel fit, eat with keen appetites and sleep serenely after taking Nature's own formula, Dr. Lust's Herbal Flaxolyn.

According to the statement issued by Dr. A. W. Herr, formerly physician at the Bottle Creek Sanatorium, "Flaxolyn relieves in a natural way that dreaded condition called constipation. In many cases where auto-intoxication prevented sleep the use of Flaxolyn has been the means of so cleansing the colon that natural sleep is now the usual thing and life has taken on a different meaning for these people."

Dr. George Starr White, prominent Los Angeles health writer and specialist, aroused kidney and stomach sufferers by taking an open stand in praise of Flaxolyn when he said last week, "I know of no remedy that can equal Herbal Flaxolyn as a corrective for chronic conditions of the bladder and kidneys—no more natural formula for combating 'self poisoning' due to constipation."

Dr. Benedict Lust (M. D., N. D.), president of the American Naturopathic Association, says: "Flaxolyn is a natural food-laxative and priceless in all digestive ills."

That is the unique feature of Flaxolyn—it is a very remarkable Toxic-Laxative, Not a "Drug."

Hundreds of other doctors and health sanitarians all over the world have used Flaxolyn in the treatment of such symptoms as dizzy spells, liver disorders, indigestion, sleepless nights, kidney and bladder troubles and have already written in praise of Flaxolyn.

Flaxolyn has the true taste of the natural herbs, roots and barks. Flaxolyn contains nothing else but digestive aids of Nature. These herbs, roots and barks are powdered fine so that they mix with the fluids of the stomach and intestines where some of them are absorbed into the organs and blood, while others pass into the colon. The original laxative "dynamite" the clogged waste matter out of the bowels. Flaxolyn however, causes a healthy or natural action in the ascending transverse and descending colon, bringing about normal bowel movement.

DIET ADVICE FREE.

Any Whelan Drug Store will gladly supply you with Dr. Lust's Rules of Health on the purchase of Flaxolyn. A large box containing many treatments costs $1. Sent postpaid if you cannot call in person.

No peace so deep as that by struggle won.

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

SOME of these dishes will be out of the ordinary and especially interesting to try:

Sweet Celery Omelet.
Beat the yolks of four eggs until thick, add one teaspoonful of salt, a dash of white pepper and one tablespoonful of honey. Mix well and fold in the stiffly beaten whites and one-fourth cupful of finely diced celery. Turn into a well-buttered hot omelet pan and cook until well browned on the bottom; turn and brown the other side. Serve on a hot platter, sprinkle with one-fourth cupful of celery which has been cooked until brown in a little bacon fat.

Frozen Punch.
Boil together one and one-half cupfuls of water, two cupfuls of sugar and one small bunch of mint for five minutes. Chill and add three cupfuls of weak tea or ginger ale, one-half cupful of lemon juice and two cupfuls of orange juice. Strain and freeze.

Honey Corn Flake Muffins.
Take one and one-half cupfuls each of corn flakes and graham flour, two cupfuls of white flour. Melt one tablespoonful of shortening, add one-fourth of a cupful of honey, two cupfuls of milk. Add five teaspoonfuls of baking powder to the dry ingredients and mix and beat well. Bake in well-greased muffin tins for 30 minutes. Half the recipe will make 16 muffins.

Fruit Salad in Orange Cups.
Take three oranges, cut in halves and remove the pulp carefully, add two slices of pineapple, two-thirds of a cupful of seeded and skinned grapes, one-third cupful of nut meats and twelve marshmallows cut into small pieces. Add a little mayonnaise and fill the orange cups. Serve on lettuce.

If you are told "It's just the same" say: No! I want OXOL for my housecleaning

Nothing else is "just the same" as OXOL. OXOL is more than merely a cleanser for laundry use. True, it whitens clothes, removes stains and makes the clothes spotlessly clean. Yet, OXOL has many other household uses because it is a Cleanser, Disinfectant, Deodorant and Germicide—all in one!

There isn't a room in the house, from cellar to roof, where OXOL can't be used. Nor is there a household cleaning job too hard for OXOL. So...if you're told something else is "just the same," tell your grocer: "No! I want OXOL for my housecleaning." And insist on getting it!

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, May 23 (AP).—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets.)—Heavy supplies combined with limited wholesale buying resulted in further sharp price slump on strawberries today. At a late hour large quantities of strawberries remained unsold with the market extremely dull and weak. Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey were the chief sources of supply. Wholesale trading on various varieties was at 6-13 cents, rarely higher, per quart basket.

Despite the lighter arrivals of southern cabbage the market continued sluggish. Price changes were few and small. One and one-half bushel hampers of Wakefield cabbage from Virginia peddled out at 50-65c, occasionally 75 cents. The preliminary estimate of the cabbage acreage in New Jersey is 103 per cent. of last year or 7,000 acres; this includes the entire crop, early, intermediate and late.

California sweet cherry prices again declined. Supplies were heavier but the demand was fairly good. Tartarian cherries packed in eight-pound boxes sold at auction from $1.70-$2, while bags of 12 and 15 pounds brought $2.10-$4.25.

The season's first new crop of cobler potatoes from North Carolina appeared today. They sold at principally 5.25 a barrel for the No. 1 stock. The market was weaker again. South Carolina No. 1 cobbler brought $4-$5.75, mainly 45-55.25 a barrel.

Western New York Baldwin apple prices declined fully 50 cents a barrel since yesterday, owing to the less active demand. Arrivals were light. Sales on U. S. Grade No. 1 stock were reported at $6-$6.50 a barrel.

Celery was in moderate receipt from Florida, but imports from the Bermuda Islands were rather heavy. The market ruled steady on Florida. But stronger on the Bermuda stock. Offerings in the rough from Bermuda jobbed out at $2.50-3.00 per crate.

Florida consignments realized $2.15-$4.50.

Supplies of green peas were moderate. Offerings varied greatly in quality and sales ranged accordingly, with the demand confined to good to fancy quality. California bushel hampers wholesaled as high as $3.25 and as low as $1.50. Virginia shipments in similar packages brought $1-$2.50.

One American canned milk company, in its China advertising, made the mistake of emphasizing the use of its product with coffee and tea, although the Chinese know nothing about coffee and would no more think of putting milk or cream in their tea than Americans would think of putting it in kumquat, writes Dr. Julius Kohn in the Scientific American. Another American milk company made a big hit with the Chinese by showing in its trade-mark an infant labeled "It's a boy," thus appealing to the universal desire for and pride in a son.

Refugees Tell of Attack on Mission

AMOI, Fukien, China, May 25 (AP).—American missionary refugees, arriving in Chinese clothing as disguised soldiers, arrived here today from Lungyenchow, where one of their number, Dr. C. H. Holleman, was made captive by Communists May 25.

The refugees said 2,000 Communist soldiers attacked the missionary compound of the American Reformed Presbyterian Mission, shouting: "The Russians are furnishing us with money and we are giving our lives. You foreigners are imperialists."

Provincial soldiers numbering 200 offered a futile defense, being finally overpowered by the Communists, who razed the mission, and forced Dr. Holleman to come with them with the excuse they needed him to treat their wounded. They finally retreated toward the Kwantung border.

Every effort is being made to reach Dr. Holleman.

Young Diplomat Saved Situation for Visitor

He is the young son of a prominent family, and is evidently destined for the diplomatic corps, for while his selection of words may not always be appropriate, his efforts to preserve cordial relations show him to be tactful and kind.

Recently his mother brought home a friend who is always attired with admirable taste. The three children in the family adore the young woman, and when their mother announced that they were all going to the club for dinner there was much joy.

Then the young woman cast a damper over the plan by saying that she had not anticipated dinner at the club in her itinerary, and that she was not fittingly arrayed for an evening festivity.

Up spoke the twelve-year-old son of the house: "Why, you look all right. I've seen lots of ladies at the club more miserably dressed than you are." That settled it. The young woman went.—Buffalo Courier-Express.

SIGNBOARDS ARE VERY UNSIGHTLY

Industries Depending on Highways for Business Worst Offenders.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In a canvass of advertising signs on the highways, the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture found that the automobile industry and those industries which serve it are the worst offenders. Their signs carry advertisements for cars, tires, oils and other accessories. Hotels and restaurants, the bureau says, probably rank second in the amount of advertising done along the highways.

Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the bureau, in a recent statement declared: "There is little of fairness to the public in the fact that the industries which depend upon the highways for their whole business should be the worst offenders in erecting and maintaining thousands of glaring, distracting signs along our streets and roadways." He also pointed out that many of the producers of the best products do not advertise in this way.

Distract Driver's Attention.

"These signs," says Mr. MacDonald, "are concentrated on the main traveled highways and are habitually placed at turns in the road where the motorists should be giving most careful attention to driving. In many instances they cut off the view of approaching cars at curves and at road intersections. Some even cut off the sight of approaching trains at unprotected grade crossings. Those which carry the word 'stop' and other words ordinarily employed on the legitimate warning signs weaken the force of the properly placed cautionary signals."

The bureau found that signs tend to multiply on poor or inferior real estate or other property along the road; that frequently abandoned sheds or barns near the roadside are covered with unsightly advertising; and that lowlands along small streams over which highways run are popular positions for large billboards.

The unsightliness of the tin signs hung on wire fences or attached to tree trunks was very noticeable to the investigators. Many such signs have been completely washed out by the weather, yet remain to disfigure the landscape.

Danger Signals Obscured.

The effectiveness of the standard numeral signs and direction and danger signals on the principal transcontinental highways, which have contributed immeasurably to the convenience and safety of travel, is hindered in many instances, says the bureau, by advertising signs which are so placed as to obscure them or withdraw attention from them. In many cases such advertisements are a positive hindrance and menace to the traveling public, especially when they contain misleading information about distances and the condition of the road ahead, which is belied in less obtrusive fashion by the public signs.

In his last annual report Mr. MacDonald stated: "In practically all cases these roadside advertisements merely repeat in the same form appeals that are made quite properly and insistently through other agencies. They are unnecessary by the public and are of doubtful value to the advertisers. It is hoped that means may be found by suitable legislation to effect their complete elimination upon all roads constructed in part with money appropriated by the national government."

Bad Condition

A local veterinary recently was called to treat a parrot which appeared to be ailing. He reported the bird was suffering from jaundice. "It was so severe," he said later, "that the parrot could not swear above a whisper."—Kansas City Star.

MOTOR QUIZ

(How Many Can You Answer?)

Q.—What is the most economical driving speed?

Ans.—About thirty miles an hour.

Q.—Are one-piece spark plugs easy to clean and what is the best way to clean them?

Ans.—Yes. Fill lower part of the plug with alcohol, metal polish or equal parts of ammonia and water and allow to stand for a few seconds. Rub the carbon from insulator with a stiff wire or small wooden peg covered with one thickness of cloth. Wipe plug dry and clean the sparking points with emery cloth.

Q.—Is it necessary to prime the fuel pump after the supply of gasoline has been exhausted?

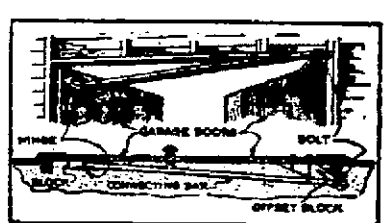

Ans.—No. The fuel pump is self-priming. Simply stepping on the starter primes the pump.

Q.—What can be done to make it easy to remove rim lugs in changing tires?

Ans.—A few drops of oil applied to the rim bolts when changing tires will cause them to come off much easier the next time it is necessary to change a tire.

Shot to Death In Labor Riot

Pittsburgh, May 25 (AP).—A dozen men were under arrest as police investigated a west end riot in which Michael Rockford, 24, a truck driver, was shot to death early today. Police said the killing was the outgrowth of a clash between deputy sheriffs and a crowd which attacked a milk wagon of the Liberty Dairy Products Company, involved in a labor controversy.

According to the police, a score or more men stopped the wagon and dragged the driver from his seat. Deputies have been guarding the trucks and wagons since a number of employees quit work in the labor dispute. The deputies ordered the crowd to disperse, according to the police, and were stoned by the crowd. Then, it is said, one of the deputies fired into the crowd and Rockford fell.

Finer Than a Hair

To study wind velocity and direction the United States Department of Commerce has its own tunnel of winds where various tests are conducted. One of the latest is that of measuring wind velocity by means of an electrical heated wire and a five-tube amplifier. The wire is about one-fifth of a human hair in diameter.

The experiment was designed to reproduce the condition of flow around airplanes which move in ripples and waves. Quantitative methods of measuring the amount of these disturbances are now made available for the first time.

Ungrateful for Saving Her Life

Rockeater, May 25 (AP).—Virginia Montaine, 15, was out of danger at St. Mary's Hospital today but still ungrateful for the life that the perfect teamwork of three men had saved for her yesterday.

The despondent girl threw herself into the Genesee River near the New York Central Railroad bridge. Her act was witnessed by a locomotive engineer, who blew his whistle to attract attention. James F. Foote, working in one of the buildings which line the river, was attracted by the signal and dove through a window, braving the swift water just above the upper falls.

After he had dragged the girl to the narrow ledge of a building, a policeman used artificial respiration for half an hour to revive her.

The girl refused to give any reason for her attempted suicide, continually asking "Why didn't you let me die?"

Save Sign of Old Age

A young man in Kansas City came downtown on a recent morning looking tired and worn. "No, I'm not sick," he said. "I'm just getting old." Then he explained his thirteen-year-old daughter had had a party the night before. He was trying to help entertain as he always had done at such affairs since she was a baby. Pretty soon his wife beckoned him into the next room. "Law," she said, "go on upstairs and let the young folks have a good time."—Capper's Weekly.

Little Journeys in Americana

By LESTER B. COLBY

Indians Adopt James Smith
JAMES SMITH was eighteen years old in 1733. The French and Indian war was just getting under way. Some time that spring the boy joined a road-building outfit in Pennsylvania. Braddock's army was to use that road in late June on its march westward to Fort Duquesne—and to defeat.

One bright morning in early summer young Smith and a companion were traveling along this road when three Indians ambushed them. Smith was captured and his comrade killed. Greatly to his surprise Smith was neither burned to death nor tortured, beyond being compelled to "run the gamut."

He was forced to travel with the Indians through forests and over mountains. Finally, some weeks later, he was adopted into an Indian family. He lived with the Indians six years. After his escape he wrote the story of his remarkable adventures. I will quote from that story briefly:

"The day after my arrival at the town called Tullihah, inhabited by the Delaware, Caughnawaga and Mohicans, a number of Indians collected about me and one of them began to pull the hair out of my head. He had some ashes on a piece of bark, in which he frequently dipped his fingers. In order to take a firmer hold."

"So he went on as if he were plucking a turkey until he had all the hair out of my head except a small spot three or four inches square on my crown; this they cut off with a pair of scissors, except three locks, which they dressed up in their own mode."

"Two of these they wrapped around with a narrow, beaded garter made by themselves for that purpose. The other they plaited at full length and then stuck it full of silver brooches. After that they bored my nose and ears and fixed me off with earrings and nose jewels."

"Then they ordered me to strip off my clothes and put on a breech-clout, which I did; they then painted my head, face and body in various colors. They put a large belt of wampum on my neck and silver bands on my hands and right arm; and so an old chief led me out in the street and gave the alarm halloo, coo-wich, several times, repeated quick; and on this all that were in the town came running and stood around the old chief who held me by the hand in the midst."

"As I at that time knew nothing of their mode of adoption, and had seen them put to death all they had taken, and as I never learned that they saved a man alive at Braddock's defeat, I made no doubt but that they were about to put me to death in some cruel manner."

"The old chief, holding me by the hand, made a long speech, very loud, and when he had done, he handed me to three young squaws who led me by the hand down the bank into the river until the water was up to our middle."

"The squaws then made signs to me to plunge into the water but I did not understand them; I thought that the result of the council was that I should be drowned and these three young ladies were to be the executioners. They all three laid violent hold of me, and I for some time opposed them with all my might which occasioned loud laughter by the multitude that were on the bank of the river."

"At length one of the squaws made out to speak a little English, for I believe they began to be afraid of me, and said, 'No hurt you.' On this I gave myself up to their ladyships who were as good as their word; for though they plunged me under water, and washed and scrubbed me severely, yet I could not say they hurt me much."

Smith tells in detail how he was next conducted to the council, how his body was painted, how he was given new clothes, a pipe, tomahawk and a pouch made out of a polecat skin. After smoking in silence for a time a chief arose and made a speech. This speech, translated to Smith by an interpreter, was about like this:

"My son, you are now flesh of our flesh, and bone of our bone. By the ceremony which was performed this day, every drop of white blood was washed out of your veins; you are taken into the Caughnawaga nation, and initiated into a warlike tribe; you are adopted into a great family, and now received with great seriousness and solemnity in the 'room' and place of a great man."

"After what has passed this day you are now one of us by an old, strong law and custom. My son, you have now nothing to fear—we are now under the same obligations to love, support and defend you that we are to love and defend one another; therefore, you are to consider yourself one of our people."

From that day on, Smith wrote, he never knew them to make any distinction between him and any of the red-skinned tribesmen among whom he lived.

Negligence Action Up For Trial

Sophie Ehrlich and Her Husband Bring Suit Against William H. Hark, Jr.—Roy C. Smith Awarded $500

A verdict for plaintiff, Roy C. Smith, was directed in Superior Court in an action brought against Peter H. Nolan and wife of Gardiner in the sum of $500. Plaintiff claims that he contracted to work for the defendant at their Gardiner home for $150 a month, claimed that after working for them three months he was paid but $120. Peter H. Hark appeared for plaintiff. There was no defense.

A negligence action was then taken up for trial. Sophie Ehrlich and her husband of Brooklyn seek to recover damages from William Hark, Jr., of this city for damages to their Cadillac car, injuries sustained by Mrs. Ehrlich and also to recover for hospital and medical bills. It is alleged by plaintiffs that while they were proceeding east toward Kingston from Fleischmanns on August 25, 1928, a gasoline tank truck owned by defendant was driven to the left of the road near Glenford, causing the driver of the Cadillac car to apply his brakes to slow down. At the time it was raining and the plaintiff claims his car skidded and swung to the left of the road on a down grade and near a turn, causing the truck to run into the right side of the car. Plaintiff claims that the accident happened to the left of the road as he was proceeding but claims the position of the truck on the highway was such as to cause him to apply his brakes suddenly and the said resulted from such action prompted by the action of the driver.

Mrs. Ehrlich was injured and was treated at the Kingston Hospital for a fractured pelvis. She claims to have been laid up for several weeks. Decision was reserved at the opening of the case on a motion made by W. W. Brooks for defendant to dismiss the complaint as regarding Mr. Ehrlich on the grounds that he had made a settlement in the amount of $500 to the defendant Hark for damages done the truck. By this stipulation of settlement made by the plaintiff to the present defendant, he alleged there could be no recovery on the part of Mr. Ehrlich in his present action. In the action which was settled Mr. Hark paid Ehrlich for damages, that action having been brought prior to the action now on trial.

A. J. Cook appears for plaintiff and F. W. Brooks for defendant.

Millard Davis Is Re-elected

Sub-District President of Dairyman's League at Meeting in Albany—Eight Delegates from Ulster in Attendance

Last week the members of each local unit of the Dairyman's League held their annual meeting. At these meetings delegates were elected to represent the members at the district meeting held in Albany Monday.

Eight delegates represented Ulster County together with Hon. Millard Davis, sub-district president. They were as follows: Webster D. Shelton, the Accord local; Benjamin Kortright, Mendota; William Roesa, Stone Ridge; Frank DuBois, Gardiner; C. Ira Thomson, Plattekill; William Hotelling, Walkkill; John Gaffney, New Paltz and Lester B. Davis, Kingston local. The Ellenville local was not represented. Albert Kurdt, Manager of the Farm Bureau, accompanied the delegates to Albany.

One of the important orders of business was to elect a member to the resolutions committee, who will represent District number 5. John E. Johnson of Middleburg, Schoharie county, was elected.

District number five of the Dairyman's League is divided into two parts called sub-districts A and B. The delegates from sub-district A, which includes Ulster county, met and chose Hon. Millard Davis to succeed himself as president.

At the local meetings held last week delegates were elected to the state wide convention to be held at Syracuse on June 29. It is expected that nearly 100 Dairyman's League delegates and members will attend this convention.

PORTRAIT OF WASHINGTON FOR SENATE HOUSE

Mrs. Emily Crane Chadbourne, one of the trustees of the Senate House Association has presented to that association a beautiful portrait of Washington showing the likeness of his mother. It was painted by an unknown artist and was found in an old English manuscript at Chadbourne, England, by Mrs. Chadbourne's father. The painting has been bought by the association and is a beautiful addition to the many fine paintings belonging to the association.

British Colonial Stamps

In general, the stamps for the British colonies are printed from plates supplied by the Royal mint, London, to contractors for the stamps or to the postal authorities concerned. In this connection, plates were supplied in 1925-26 to Messrs. Waterlow & Sons, Ltd., for the printing of stamps for the government of New Zealand and the Colon of South Africa.

Gasco Drop First Game to New Combination

After losing four straight to the lowly Manhattan-Dwyer combination, the Gasco dropped their first game to a new combination of 16-6 Monday evening. Two innings were all that the Dwyers needed to win the game. They scored six runs in the first and three in the fifth.

A fairly good size crowd was at the Athletic field to watch the game while the weatherman threatened to send rain. The game was called in the sixth inning on account of darkness.

The game was the first for the Manhattan-Dwyer as a combination, the Manhattan having played the first four games alone. The Dwyers pulled themselves out of last place by virtue of the victory and the Gasco lost first place after winning three straight.

Lou Straley was a big cause of the Gasco's downfall. He did the pitching for the Dwyers and held the hard hitting Gasco to six hits, all coming in the first three innings. He fanned seven batters.

An outburst of hitting gave the Dwyers six runs in the first inning. A walk to Dawkins started the rally. L. Stauble pushed Dawkins around to third with a single. Quackenbush then uncorked a wild pitch to let Dawkins bring in the first run. Dutch Carter was also given free transportation to first base, which coupled with singles by C. Stauble, Straley and Brazeo and Coughlin's two-bagger sent five more runs across the plate.

Quackenbush, a former Kingston High School pitcher, was the twirler who was so roughly treated in the first inning. He managed to hold the Dwyers scoreless for three innings after the first, but he lost control again in the fifth, in which inning the game was won.

The Gasco kept pecking at the six-run lead in the first three innings, finally tying the score in the third, but that was the end of their scoring. Straley mowing them down in one-two-three order in the last three innings.

Singles by Smith and Sickler and Quinn's walk netted the Gasco two runs in the first. Short's double, an infield out and a pass ball gave them another in the second. An error, a walk and hits bunched by Sickler, Lynch and Short accounted for the tying runs in the third.

Two walks gave the Dwyers men on base in the fifth inning. McDermott and Carter were the lucky ones to receive the walks, and Brazeo and Mills did the rest. Brazeo poling a double and Mills a single. The Dwyers tallied another unnecessary run in the last inning.

SIDELINERS

Jake Carter, the Babe Ruth of the Koenig All Stars, and Joe Coughlin were the new faces on the Manhattan team. Each turned in a good performance.

Straley sneaked in three last strikes on Doyle, Raichle and Quinn in the fourth inning. He added another victim in the fifth to make it four straight.

The Gasco were without the services of three of their stars in the first half of the first inning. Sickler, Lynch and Doyle were detained on account of work. Joey Hoffman was also absent.

The West Shore-Van Slyke's clean slate will be in peril when they stack up against the Postoffice-Apollo tonight.

Tagging Major League Bases

By HERBERT W. BARKER.

(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

Gaining momentum day by day, the Cardinals of Pittsburgh and tagged their way into second place in the National League pennant race today, with the pace setting position only a bare half game away.

With Jess Petty on the mound for them yesterday, the Cardinals pounded out a 16 to 1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals, relegated the Cards to third place in the standings and saw first place only a half game distant when the Chicago Cubs obligingly lost to Cincinnati.

While the Pirates were lacking Hallahan and Sherdel for 14 luster drives, including two home runs by George Grantham, Petty was holding the Cardinals to seven scattered hits to register his second triumph of the season. His only other winning start, also against the Cards, came a month ago. The victory was Pittsburgh's sixth in succession and 16th in the Pirates' last 21 games.

The Cubs fell victim to a six-run rally in the eighth at Cincinnati and dropped the decision, 8 to 5, much to the delight of the Reds, who had lost nine consecutive games. Sheriff Blake handbatted the Reds effectively enough until the 8th when they drove him from the box and continued the assault on Charley Root and Claude Jonnard.

Good pitching by Ray Benge and Claude Willoughby gave the Phillies both ends of a double bill with the Boston Braves, 2 to 1 and 3 to 1. Bob Smith lost the first game by passing Barney Friberg with the bases filled in the sixth. Willoughby had a shutout in his grasp in the eighth until George Harper hit a homer in the ninth.

Over in the American League, the St. Louis Browns shaved a half game off the Philadelphia Athletics' lead by downing Cleveland, 3 to 1. George Blaeholder kept eight Cleveland hits scattered and won his second victory of the six-game series, of which the Browns took four. A passed ball and an error, coupled with ten Brown safeties, sent Walter Miller, Indian southpaw, down to defeat.

The Chicago White Sox surprised with a double victory over Bucky Harris' Detroit Tigers, 7 to 4 and 6 to 5 in 14 innings. The Sox pulled the first game out of the fire with a four-run rally in the eighth and came from behind to take the second as well. Detroit led in the nightcap, 3 to 1, after seven innings of play, but the Sox scored single runs in the eighth and ninth to knot the count, scored another in the 12th and 13th frames to match Detroit counters and won out in the 14th.

All other major league clubs had an off day.

Chichester Beat Hunter, 10 to 8

The Chichester Town team won their first game of the season Sunday by defeating the Hunter nine, 10-8. The visitors took the lead in the second inning and held it throughout the game. With a man on base in the seventh L. Grant hit the ball through the right field fence for a home run.

Star When Has Control

There probably will be a lot of shuffling around in the batter's box when Bill Hallahan takes the mound for the St. Louis Cardinals this season.

For Bill, with all of his curves and speed, is, or rather has been one wild right-handed pitcher. Working for Houston, pennant winners on the Texas league last year, Bill fanned 244 men in 276 innings, but he walked 149. He won 23 and lost 12 games.

Bill was up with the Cardinals once before. His wildness was too great a handicap then.

South Pole Resorts Likely For Ailing, Explorer Declares

Sir Douglas Mawson (inset) and the Discovery, the ship in which he will make another visit to the Antarctic.

London (AP).—If Sir Douglas Mawson has his way in the antarctic, the south pole one day will be a health resort.

Sir Douglas, who was on the scientific staff of the Shackleton expedition in 1907 and led the Australian antarctic expedition of 1911-14, has left London to make final preparations in Australia for a new expedition to the southern-most continent which he hopes will prove the practicability of colonizing that ice-bound region.

The government has lent him Scott's old ship, the Discovery, and officially the purpose of the expedition is to continue the charting of the Antarctic coastline and to study the life and habits of the whale.

However, Sir Douglas looks beyond the immediate objective and regards his task as the first step in the development of a new land. He is confident that colonists will follow the explorer (as they did in the development of America), and that in a few years the polar continent will be dotted with fishing and mining settlements.

It may be a far cry from such rude settlements to the sort of thing one expects to see in health resorts, but Sir Douglas sees nothing illogical in the thought of health resorts of the future being built there. The atmosphere of the Pole, he points out, is totally devoid of dust and innocent of any kind of germs (which do much of their traveling on dust particles). The climate, in fact, he asserts, is "the healthiest in the world," and the polar world a region of gorgeous beauty.

Apparently the explorer's enthusiasm for South Polar climate and scenery is the contagious sort, for before he left here he received scores of applications for posts with his expedition—several of them from women. His reply to the feminine aspirants was:

"Not this trip. What we need on this expedition is men who have been on similar expeditions before. Captain Davis wants sailors; I want scientific experts."

Loving Cup For Geraldine Long

Geraldine, six-months' old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Long of 291 Washington avenue, was presented with a loving cup for being the first baby to enter in the Freeman's 100 per cent perfect baby contest. At 8:30 Monday morning Mrs. Long was at the pageant headquarters, 25 John street, to enter her baby. Ten babies were registered Monday, all of whom were baby girls.

A loving cup will also be presented to the first red-headed baby entered. As yet no baby has claimed this reward.

From 8:30 Monday morning until 9:30 in the evening the nurse in charge of the clinic was kept busy showing visitors through and explaining the many details of the coming pageant, which will require several acres of ground for the many attractions that will be brought to the city for the coming parents' exposition.

Other activities are reported to include the exhibition of local and national merchandise under a large tent in the merchants and manufacturers division.

There will be an industrious boy contest, which is open to all boys over ten years of age. Several boys have already entered. Any boy desiring information should call at 35 John street.

A Kingston's favorite daughter election will be open to all ladies of this vicinity. The person nominating the winning candidate will be given $25.

The committee further states that in Wednesday's issue of The Freeman there will be an entry blank for the 100 per cent perfect baby contest and an entry blank for Kingston's favorite daughter election will be found later.

THREE-ACT PLAY AT PLATTEKILL GRANGE HALL. A cast of characters from Wallkill High School will present a three-act comedy entitled "Three Line Ghosts" at the Plattekill Grange Hall on Friday evening, May 31. This play was recently given at Wallkill and was enjoyed by all. Dancing will follow the play. William Nabor is chairman of the committee for arrangements and will sell tickets at the door.
